West, Russia Reject Plans

Gates Gets No.2 Pentagon Post

Navy Chief Will Succeed Quarles; Radford Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration moved Monday to fill two gaps at the top of the military establishment, choosing Thomas S. Gates to be deputy secretary of defense and recalling Adm. Arthur W. Radford for temporary duty.

Gates, now secretary of the Navy, had been due to leave government service within a few days.

President Eisenhower's choice of him as the No. 2 civilian administrator at the Pentagon stirred expectation that Gates would move up to the No. 1 spot with the likely departure this fall of Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy.

A government official in a position to know said Eisenhower's present plans are to give the secretaryship of defense to Gates if and when McElroy goes.

Radford Recalled

Adm. Radford, a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was recalled for temporary duty at the Pentagon as a civilian consultant.

He was succeeded as head of the JCS nearly two years ago by Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining, officially reported to be recovering now from a lung cancer operation performed last week.

The Defense Department hoped for prompt Senate confirmation for Gates. He is a Philadelphia investment banker who served for nearly four years as a Navy officer in World War II and who has been serving the Navy as undersecretary and secretary for nearly six years.

McElroy Will Go To Geneva

McElroy was under special pressure to get a successor to Quarles as soon as possible because the defense secretary is already overdue at the four-power conference in Geneva. After the President announced the nomination of Gates, McElroy said he would leave for Switzerland Tuesday.

Shortly after announcement of the selection of Gates, the President wrote him designating him acting secretary of defense while McElroy attends the Geneva conference.

Gates, 53, is the youngest in age and seniority of the three military service secretaries. Although a hard fighter for the Navy, he has established a reputation within the Pentagon and the administration for taking the long, broad view.

125 Persons Hurt In Crash Of 'El' Trains

Commuter Train Rammed By Another During Rush Hour

More than 125 persons were taken to hospitals.

The impact sent the front car of the rear train telescoping four feet into the rear car of the stationary lead train.

The grinding metal of the steel coaches virtually snapped off the leg of Nancy Alberger, 20, standing at the rear of the lead train. "God help me," she cried and started moaning for her mother.

Motorman Jams On Brakes

Passengers were bowled over into writhing piles. Those seated were banged against other seats. There was no fire.

Dominic Parise, 45, motorman of the rear train, said he saw the train ahead stalled on the tracks. He jammed his brakes but there wasn't time. The crash folded his cab around him and firemen had to use portable electric saws for more than half an hour to free him. He suffered an injured ankle.

A Chicago Transit Authority spokesman said a preliminary investigation apparently pinned the cause of the crash to man failure.

The spokesman said skid marks indicated the brakes and other equipment were working.

Panic seized some passengers. Others calmly went to the aid of the injured.

Passengers Flee

Many passengers in the rear car of the lead train ran toward the forward cars. Others in the front car of the rear train ran through rear door exits and jammed into the rear cars.

The crash occurred between 8:18 and 8:20 a.m. on the Logan Square line at 1800 Milwaukee Ave. The el structure there is as high as a three-story building.

The accident was triggered when apparent mechanical trouble developed some time earlier on a Logan Square train nearing downtown. The train halted. Others following stopped or slowed. Parise's train made a stop at the Western Ave. station and was just picking up speed when the crash occurred.

Chicago Elevated Trains Collide

Herter Says Soviets Block German Unity

Gromyko Willing To Discuss Some Allied Proposals

U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter charged the Soviet plan for separate peace treaties with East and West Germany carried "the seeds of future discord and conflict." He accused the Soviet Union of blocking a German settlement.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko snapped back that the United States, Britain and France were trying to promote a state of half-war, half-peace in Germany. He said German unification could not be discussed at this or any other conference.

Gromyko claimed the Western powers were trying to extend their "occupation regime in West Berlin" to encompass East Berlin, capital of the East German regime.

He turned down the broad Western package approach for gradual German reunification and described Western proposals for uniting East and West Berlin—the first phase of the package—as "utterly unacceptable."

In his hour-long speech Gromyko said German reunification was possible only through direct action by the East and West German states.

"Disturbing" Speech

An American spokesman told newsmen after the three-hour session that Gromyko's speech was "both disturbing and disquieting."

A French spokesman thought the tone of the glum Soviet foreign minister was much like that of Soviet speeches at the unsuccessful Big Four talks of 1955.

Gromyko left open some avenues of negotiation, however, by expressing a willingness to discuss some aspects of the Western package.

He mentioned specifically disarmament, a nonaggression declaration, creation of a mixed committee of East and West Germans and an arms limitation zone in Central Europe.

Herter took the firmest possible line on German unification. The tall American diplomat said a final peace treaty can only be made with an "all-German government, freely chosen by the German people."

As far as the United States is concerned, Herter said, Germany still exists as an entity under international law despite the fact that the country has been split since the conclusion of World War II.

Western Row Settled

"The government of the United States does not consider and will not admit, that Germany as an international entity is permanently divided into new and separate states as was the case of Austria after World War I," Herter declared.

He said the United States, Britain and France are agreed a final settlement with Germany "must await the establishment of a government which can act for and bind Germany as a whole."

He made the point that the United States has never been at war

Ike's Economic Adviser Draws AFL-CIO Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council Monday accused President Eisenhower's top economic adviser of advocating a wage freeze and bluntly advised him to refrain from "prejudicial" statements during the current steel negotiations.

The council approved a resolution sharply criticizing Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. It said Saulnier, in effect, was giving aid and comfort to steel companies in their contract talks with the United Steelworkers Union.

"Dr. Saulnier's insistence on freezing wages at a time when American corporations' profits are soaring reflects his own prejudices in the present economic scene," the union leaders said.

"We suggest that he heed the advice of other officials of the U. S. government and allow collective bargaining to proceed without one-sided, prejudicial argumentation by one segment of the government," the council said.

Saulnier, asked about the charges, denied that he ever advocated a wage-freeze or meant to influence the outcome of the steel talks.

"I have tried most carefully—and I think successfully—to avoid any comment on the specifics of the steel situation, he said. "I had no intention of trying to influence in any way the outcome of these negotiations."

Earlier, the council rejected the wage-freeze proposed by big steel producers on grounds that it would increase unemployment and possibly cause another recession. It said the industry could afford a wage hike out of "swollen" profits.

Steelworkers President David J M.cDonald reported to the council on the New York steel negotiations.

Asked about progress so far, McDonald said: "We're exploring each other's minds. The atmosphere so far has been friendly. We haven't had any cat and dog fights."

Police Control Soviet Church, Senators Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee released testimony Monday that Soviet churches are under control of the secret police, and that many priests are secret agents.

Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss) said in a statement the testimony established that Metropolitan Nikolai, foreign affairs secretary of the Russian Orthodox church, is an agent of the Soviet secret police.

The testimony was given by Peter S. Debiabian, described by the committee as a former MVD —secret police—officer who was attached to the Soviet Embassy in Vienna when he defected to the West in 1954. He testified at a closed session May 5.

The witness said that when Soviet leaders saw in 1937 that the policy of closing churches and exiling priests would not work, the Communist government began requiring priests to be agents.

"For more than 20 years now, under the policy of the state police in the Soviet Union, to be a priest one has to be an agent?" asked chief counsel J. G. Sourwine.

"That is right," Deriabian replied.

"So that there are no priests who serve the church first—they are only agents of the state police serving as priests?" the counsel continued.

"You are right. I would say this: Some of the priests who are serving as agents believe in God, and they have to do it because they could not find another way how to do it."

Deriabian said he was assigned to assist Metropolitan Nikolai when the latter went to Austria for the Vienna peace conference in December 1953.

Pampered Ozzie Spurns Normal Turtle Food

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Meet Ozzie the contented turtle—a pampered pet who won't eat turtle food but is fond of cooked hamburger and pancakes with syrup.

He's like the man who came to dinner to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Youmans. They let him spend the winter in their basement back in 1929 and he's stayed with the family ever since.

Now he's so much a member of the family that when the Youmans take a trip—even as far away as Florida—Ozzie goes along.

It all started when workmen building a new home for the Youmans in the fall of 1929 found Ozzie hibernating.

The Youmans let him stay in the basement through the cold weather, but when spring came, Ozzie wouldn't leave.

Ozzie now is so domesticated he spurns normal turtle food and will eat only cooked fare.

"He seems to like hamburger and pancakes with syrup best," says Mrs. Youmans.

Twisters Cause Heavy Damage In Middle West

By United Press International

The twister hit Corning, Iowa, a community of 2,100 persons. It damaged several business buildings on the town's southeast edge before swerving off into the countryside.

A heavy bulldozer was shifted more than 40 feet, walls were torn from buildings, and a new machine shed was swept away, leaving the car inside untouched.

Also in southwest Iowa, winds clocked at hurricane force of 80 miles an hour swept into Shenandoah. They crumpled radio station KMA's 488-foot tower to the ground, where it broke into three sections. One of the station's 244-foot towers also went down.

There were no injuries or fatalities reported in Corning or Shenandoah.

The devastating winds came in the midst of twister alerts posted over parts of southern Iowa, northern Missouri and eastern Kansas.

Torrential rains had already swept the area. They measured four to five inches deep at Sidney, Iowa, and 1.53 inches in 45 minutes at Racon, Neb. Water was three feet deep over roads leading into Denton, Neb., and families fled their homes along the rising Cottonwood River in Kansas.

Americans Set Income Record During April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans earned more money in April than ever before, the Commerce Department reported Monday.

It said personal income scored a hefty $3,200,000,000 increase during the month, bringing individual earnings to a record annual rate of $372,700,000,000.

Most of the April increase—$2,700,000,000 — was in wages and salaries. This resulted in part from the fact that the number of employed Americans jumped to a new April record of 65,012,000, an increase of about 1,000,000 over March.

If personal income continues to post gains equal to those of the past few months, the 374 billion dollars total now predicted for 1959 will be topped by a substantial amount.

Economists, however, expect some slowdown in the month-to-month rise.

The total for 1958 was $354,400,000,000.

The income record came on the heels of another government report Sunday that the nation's output of goods and services hit an all-time high annual rate of 467 billion dollars for the first three months of this year.

This was a revised figure which was about two billion dollars higher than the Commerce Department's earlier figure. It meant that business was even better for the first quarter of the year than the record-setting pace originally reported.

The big employment and income gains in April were expected to brighten the economic picture still further by pushing up consumer spending in the months ahead.

Mrs. Harry Truman Undergoes Surgery

The condition of the 74-year-old wife of former President Harry S. Truman was described by a Research Hospital spokesman as "very satisfactory."

He added, however, it would not be known for two or three days whether the tumor was malignant.

3 Children Die In Trailer Fire

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Three children burned to death Monday when their trailer home caught fire, and their grandmother was burned.

The apparent cause was explosion of an oil stove used in cooking, firemen said. The trailer was located on Whisky Bottom Road near Laurel Race Track.

State Police identified the young victims as Rickey, 5, Wanda, 2, and William Vincent Jr., 3. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Vincent. Police learned that Vincent is in the Army and stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis. His wife was reported to be with him.

Taken to Franklin Square Hospital in Baltimore with burns was Mrs. Mary Thomas, the children's grandmother. A spokesman at the hospital described her condition as "satisfactory."

Couple Slain In Gun Battle

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A former Salvation Army captain, spurned by the woman he loved, shot her to death Monday and in turn died in a blazing exchange of pistol fire on a South Richmond street.

Police said Marvin Edwards, about 45, and Mrs. Annie Pizzuto, 31 and the mother of two, met near her home and spoke briefly and quietly before both pulled out pistols and opened fire.

Mrs. Pizzuto fired five times in rapid succession, one of the bullets striking Edwards in the abdomen. Witnesses told officers she apparently began firing first.

Edwards' heavy, bone-handled pistol was fired three times. Two of the bullets struck Mrs. Pizzuto in the head. The third Edwards put into his own temple as he staggered away from the scene.

A witness, Robert Peery, told police he turned around when he heard the exchange of gunfire to see Mrs. Pizzuto tumble into the gutter. Then, Peery said, Edwards "walked over to her, pointed a pistol at her head, and shot again. He walked a couple of steps and shot himself."

Herter Calls Envoys To Geneva Sessions

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has summoned to Geneva the American ambassadors to London and Paris for consultations on the Big Four talks.

Announcing this Monday night, Asst. Secretary of State Andrew Berding said John Hay Whitney, ambassador to London, and Amory Houghton, ambassador to Paris, will arrive here Tuesday.

Invitations Via Telepathy To Spacemen Go Begging

LONDON (AP)—A message was sent into space Monday inviting any space ship or flying saucer crews who happened to be around to skim down to earth for a short vacation.

Nobody, apparently, took up the offer.

The message was transmitted by telepathy — thought transmission — by thousands of British saucer fans.

The thought signals starting going out Sunday, inviting the space men down for the Whitsun weekend, an annual three-day holiday which ended Monday.

It was part of the International Flying Saucer Contact Weekend. In hope that the message got through, thousands of fans scanned the skies.

Down in the quiet, green peace of Ashdown Forest in Sussex, the Hon. Brinsley Le Poer Trench waited too. He is a leading British flying saucer fan. He went into the woods because he reckoned it a likely place for a shy space man to land.

Trench is convinced that if Martians or Venusians receive friendly thoughts from anyone on this earth it might encourage them to climb into their flying saucers and come down. So he spent Monday radiating kind thoughts about space men.

"All over the world we flying saucer enthusiasts — thousands of us—are trying to contact the men from outer space," Trench said. "Some of our members are watching television sets tuned into unused channels or listening to radios on wavelengths not used by radio stations.

"And some of us are using telepathy. The outer space people use it, you know."

Van Cliburn's Hand Saved By Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Pianist Van Cliburn disclosed Monday that an operation last February on a middle finger narrowly averted the need for amputation of his right hand and possibly other portions of his arm.

The lanky Texan, who won world acclaim at the Tschaikowsky concert in Moscow last year, said he had not been informed about the danger "until the operation was all over and the surgeon was sure I would recover completely."

A spokesman for the pianist said that he had had an abscessed fingernail which could have caused blood poisoning without the proper medical care.

He will leave for Europe May 30 for a series of concerts beginning June 4 in the Palais du Chaillot in Paris.

Ike Calls On Dulles, Marshall, Twining

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower made another visit Monday to former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, seriously ill with cancer.

While at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Eisenhower also called on two other old friends who are patients there, Gen. George C. Marshall, who has suffered two strokes, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, who has had a lung cancer operation.

The State Department reported there has been no change in Dulles' condition since Friday, when a decline was noted following an attack of pneumonia.

Military Asks Inventors Help Solve 28 Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces appealed Monday to the nation's inventors to come up with devices that would enable soldiers to jump over mountains and live off the land.

Through the National Inventors Council, the military also called for quick methods to repair broken undersea cables, like those a Soviet fishing trawler was accused of ripping in February.

A spokesman said, however, the decision to seek new repair methods had no connection with the February incident.

The council is a Commerce Department agency which acts as a clearing house for military inventions. It issued a list of 28 new problems which the Pentagon wants civilian inventors to tackle.

Such lists have been issued periodically since the council was set up in 1940. In response, the council has received several hundred thousand ideas which it has screened.

Likely looking inventions are forwarded to the Pentagon, which decides whether they're usable. The military then negotiates directly with inventors for the right to use the ideas.

One of the most sensational problems posed in the latest council list involves a rocket lift that would permit soldiers to soar over mountains and other obstacles.

Another problem: Perfection of devices or processes that would enable soldiers and civilians to live off the land by transforming present inedible materials into food. The council said this could have broad application in the event of atomic war.

Other inventions wanted include: A method of preventng bread from hardenng, an insect repellent that can be built into clothing and an altimeter that can function at 500,000 feet.

Gunman Robs Maryland Bank

The bandit, carrying a nickel-plated revolver which was concealed by a jacket over his arm, walked into the Parkville branch of the Equitable Trust Co. about 1:30 p.m.

A teller, Mrs. Joanna Bennedetta, said he approached her window, shoved a bag across the counter and told her to "fill it up." As she started to fill it with bills, she said, the man ordered her to "put it all in."

Grabbing the bag, the bandit brushed past two customers and fled the bank in the Parkville shopping center. He ran across a lower-level parking lot in his flight and dropped about $969 of the loot. A cap was found nearby.

The FBI said it had not been determined if he used a car in his getaway.

The bandit was described as about 33-35, standing 5-11 and weighing about 175. He had light brown hair cut short and was wearing a dark green shirt with the sleeves rolled up and carrying a brown jacket over one arm.

125 Persons Hurt In Crash Of 'El' Trains

Commuter Train Rammed By Another During Rush Hour

The impact sent the front car of the rear train telescoping four feet into the rear car of the stationary lead train.

Many passengers in the rear car of the lead train ran toward the forward cars. Others in the front car of the rear train ran through rear door exits and jammed into the rear cars.

The crash occurred between 8:18 and 8:20 a.m. on the Logan Square line at 1800 Milwaukee Ave. The el structure there is as high as a three-story building.

The accident was triggered when apparent mechanical trouble developed some time earlier on a Logan Square train nearing downtown. The train halted. Others following stopped or slowed. Parise's train made a stop at the Western Ave. station and was just picking up speed when the crash occurred.

Couple Slain In Gun Battle

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A former Salvation Army captain, spurned by the woman he loved, shot her to death Monday and in turn died in a blazing exchange of pistol fire on a South Richmond street.

Police said Marvin Edwards, about 45, and Mrs. Annie Pizzuto, 31 and the mother of two, met near her home and spoke briefly and quietly before both pulled out pistols and opened fire.

Edwards' heavy, bone-handled pistol was fired three times. Two of the bullets struck Mrs. Pizzuto in the head. The third Edwards put into his own temple as he staggered away from the scene.

A witness, Robert Peery, told police he turned around when he heard the exchange of gunfire to see Mrs. Pizzuto tumble into the gutter. Then, Peery said, Edwards "walked over to her, pointed a pistol at her head, and shot again. He walked a couple of steps and shot himself."

Van Cliburn's Hand Saved By Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Pianist Van Cliburn disclosed Monday that an operation last February on a middle finger narrowly averted the need for amputation of his right hand and possibly other portions of his arm.

The lanky Texan, who won world acclaim at the Tschaikowsky concert in Moscow last year, said he had not been informed about the danger "until the operation was all over and the surgeon was sure I would recover completely."

A spokesman for the pianist said that he had had an abscessed fingernail which could have caused blood poisoning without the proper medical care.

He will leave for Europe May 30 for a series of concerts beginning June 4 in the Palais du Chaillot in Paris.

Police Control Soviet Church, Senators Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee released testimony Monday that Soviet churches are under control of the secret police, and that many priests are secret agents.

Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss) said in a statement the testimony established that Metropolitan Nikolai, foreign affairs secretary of the Russian Orthodox church, is an agent of the Soviet secret police.

The testimony was given by Peter S. Debiabian, described by the committee as a former MVD —secret police—officer who was attached to the Soviet Embassy in Vienna when he defected to the West in 1954. He testified at a closed session May 5.

The witness said that when Soviet leaders saw in 1937 that the policy of closing churches and exiling priests would not work, the Communist government began requiring priests to be agents.

"For more than 20 years now, under the policy of the state police in the Soviet Union, to be a priest one has to be an agent?" asked chief counsel J. G. Sourwine.

"That is right," Deriabian replied.

"So that there are no priests who serve the church first—they are only agents of the state police serving as priests?" the counsel continued.

"You are right. I would say this: Some of the priests who are serving as agents believe in God, and they have to do it because they could not find another way how to do it."

Deriabian said he was assigned to assist Metropolitan Nikolai when the latter went to Austria for the Vienna peace conference in December 1953.

Ike Calls On Dulles, Marshall, Twining

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower made another visit Monday to former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, seriously ill with cancer.

While at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Eisenhower also called on two other old friends who are patients there, Gen. George C. Marshall, who has suffered two strokes, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, who has had a lung cancer operation.

The State Department reported there has been no change in Dulles' condition since Friday, when a decline was noted following an attack of pneumonia.

Pampered Ozzie Spurns Normal Turtle Food

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Meet Ozzie the contented turtle—a pampered pet who won't eat turtle food but is fond of cooked hamburger and pancakes with syrup.

He's like the man who came to dinner to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Youmans. They let him spend the winter in their basement back in 1929 and he's stayed with the family ever since.

Now he's so much a member of the family that when the Youmans take a trip—even as far away as Florida—Ozzie goes along.

It all started when workmen building a new home for the Youmans in the fall of 1929 found Ozzie hibernating.

The Youmans let him stay in the basement through the cold weather, but when spring came, Ozzie wouldn't leave.

Ozzie now is so domesticated he spurns normal turtle food and will eat only cooked fare.

"He seems to like hamburger and pancakes with syrup best," says Mrs. Youmans.

Herter Calls Envoys To Geneva Sessions

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has summoned to Geneva the American ambassadors to London and Paris for consultations on the Big Four talks.

Announcing this Monday night, Asst. Secretary of State Andrew Berding said John Hay Whitney, ambassador to London, and Amory Houghton, ambassador to Paris, will arrive here Tuesday.

Twisters Cause Heavy Damage In Middle West

By United Press International

The twister hit Corning, Iowa, a community of 2,100 persons. It damaged several business buildings on the town's southeast edge before swerving off into the countryside.

A heavy bulldozer was shifted more than 40 feet, walls were torn from buildings, and a new machine shed was swept away, leaving the car inside untouched.

Also in southwest Iowa, winds clocked at hurricane force of 80 miles an hour swept into Shenandoah. They crumpled radio station KMA's 488-foot tower to the ground, where it broke into three sections. One of the station's 244-foot towers also went down.

There were no injuries or fatalities reported in Corning or Shenandoah.

The devastating winds came in the midst of twister alerts posted over parts of southern Iowa, northern Missouri and eastern Kansas.

Torrential rains had already swept the area. They measured four to five inches deep at Sidney, Iowa, and 1.53 inches in 45 minutes at Racon, Neb. Water was three feet deep over roads leading into Denton, Neb., and families fled their homes along the rising Cottonwood River in Kansas.

Military Asks Inventors Help Solve 28 Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces appealed Monday to the nation's inventors to come up with devices that would enable soldiers to jump over mountains and live off the land.

Through the National Inventors Council, the military also called for quick methods to repair broken undersea cables, like those a Soviet fishing trawler was accused of ripping in February.

A spokesman said, however, the decision to seek new repair methods had no connection with the February incident.

The council is a Commerce Department agency which acts as a clearing house for military inventions. It issued a list of 28 new problems which the Pentagon wants civilian inventors to tackle.

Such lists have been issued periodically since the council was set up in 1940. In response, the council has received several hundred thousand ideas which it has screened.

Likely looking inventions are forwarded to the Pentagon, which decides whether they're usable. The military then negotiates directly with inventors for the right to use the ideas.

One of the most sensational problems posed in the latest council list involves a rocket lift that would permit soldiers to soar over mountains and other obstacles.

Another problem: Perfection of devices or processes that would enable soldiers and civilians to live off the land by transforming present inedible materials into food. The council said this could have broad application in the event of atomic war.

Other inventions wanted include: A method of preventng bread from hardenng, an insect repellent that can be built into clothing and an altimeter that can function at 500,000 feet.

Herter Says Soviets Block German Unity

Gromyko Willing To Discuss Some Allied Proposals

U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter charged the Soviet plan for separate peace treaties with East and West Germany carried "the seeds of future discord and conflict." He accused the Soviet Union of blocking a German settlement.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko snapped back that the United States, Britain and France were trying to promote a state of half-war, half-peace in Germany. He said German unification could not be discussed at this or any other conference.

Gromyko claimed the Western powers were trying to extend their "occupation regime in West Berlin" to encompass East Berlin, capital of the East German regime.

He turned down the broad Western package approach for gradual German reunification and described Western proposals for uniting East and West Berlin—the first phase of the package—as "utterly unacceptable."

In his hour-long speech Gromyko said German reunification was possible only through direct action by the East and West German states.

"Disturbing" Speech

An American spokesman told newsmen after the three-hour session that Gromyko's speech was "both disturbing and disquieting."

A French spokesman thought the tone of the glum Soviet foreign minister was much like that of Soviet speeches at the unsuccessful Big Four talks of 1955.

Gromyko left open some avenues of negotiation, however, by expressing a willingness to discuss some aspects of the Western package.

He mentioned specifically disarmament, a nonaggression declaration, creation of a mixed committee of East and West Germans and an arms limitation zone in Central Europe.

Herter took the firmest possible line on German unification. The tall American diplomat said a final peace treaty can only be made with an "all-German government, freely chosen by the German people."

As far as the United States is concerned, Herter said, Germany still exists as an entity under international law despite the fact that the country has been split since the conclusion of World War II.

Western Row Settled

"The government of the United States does not consider and will not admit, that Germany as an international entity is permanently divided into new and separate states as was the case of Austria after World War I," Herter declared.

He said the United States, Britain and France are agreed a final settlement with Germany "must await the establishment of a government which can act for and bind Germany as a whole."

He made the point that the United States has never been at war

Gunman Robs Maryland Bank

The bandit, carrying a nickel-plated revolver which was concealed by a jacket over his arm, walked into the Parkville branch of the Equitable Trust Co. about 1:30 p.m.

A teller, Mrs. Joanna Bennedetta, said he approached her window, shoved a bag across the counter and told her to "fill it up." As she started to fill it with bills, she said, the man ordered her to "put it all in."

Grabbing the bag, the bandit brushed past two customers and fled the bank in the Parkville shopping center. He ran across a lower-level parking lot in his flight and dropped about $969 of the loot. A cap was found nearby.

The FBI said it had not been determined if he used a car in his getaway.

The bandit was described as about 33-35, standing 5-11 and weighing about 175. He had light brown hair cut short and was wearing a dark green shirt with the sleeves rolled up and carrying a brown jacket over one arm.

Hepbron Admits Ex-Con Acted As His Informant

Denies Goldstein Wielded Influence

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron admitted Monday that information furnished him by Carroll (Cappy) Goldstein led to transfers of officers in the Baltimore City Police Department.

Hepbron denied, however, that his ex-convict informant wielded any influence in the transfers and said the information was checked out by Chief Inspector Lusby, who ultimately recommended both transfers.

Goldstein's role as an informer for Hepbron was unfolded during cross-examination of the police commissioner at a hearing before Gov. Tawes on Baltimore City delegation charges that Hepbron is unfit to continue in office.

He is accused of having associated improperly with persons having prison records to the detriment of Police Department morale and with having condoned illegal wiretapping.

Hepbron said Goldstein was one of "three or four good informants" outside the department who had furnished information he had found valuable as police commissioner.

In every such case, he said, the information has been relayed to the chief inspector for verification or rejection.

Hepbron denied prosecution inferences that Goldstein may have influenced promotions within the department. He said he made such promotions directly from the top of the examination list.

Goldstein, who served a term for white slavery in the early 1930s, was paroled into Hepbron's custody after getting out of prison and the police commissioner had admitted during earlier testimony that Goldstein had sometimes called him on his private phone and given him information.

The 68-year-old police commissioner received character and competency endorsements today from Mayor-elect J. Harold Grady of Baltimore and former Gov. McKeldin, who appointed Hepbron commissioner in 1955.

Grady, who was state's attorney of Baltimore during a 1957 grand jury investigation and shakeup of the Police Department, said Hepbron "has been competent, dedicated and thorough in the discharge of his duties as police commissioner."

The former FBI agent said he had known Hepbron since joining the state's attorney staff in 1947, and has found his reputation for truth and veracity to be "excellent."

He said Hepbron moved promptly against illegal wiretapping and morals cases in the department.

McKeldin testified that Hepbron initiated the action which halted a license being granted to the London Sporting Club of New York to stage televised fights in Baltimore in 1956, when the group was under fire in New York.

He said Hepbron invited him to the Police Department to hear wiretap recordings which led McKeldin to order revocation of the license of Baltimore boxing promotor Benny Trotta and to deny one to the London Sporting Club.

"I was tremendously shocked by what I heard," said McKeldin who did not go into details of the wiretaps.

Defense attorney William D. Macmillan was unsuccessful in admitting into evidence 1956 magazine articles in which boxing Commissioner Julius Helfand of New York credited Hepbron with helping break up the boxing monopoly there through information supplied from the Baltimore Police Department.

Safecracking Suspect Asks Delay Of Trial

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — The Dorchester County Circuit Court was asked Monday to postpone next week's scheduled trial of Stephano Glaros, who is accused of a $162,000 safecracking.

Attorney William J. O'Donnell, who asked for the postponement, said his client was due to have an operation in Baltimore May 26 —the scheduled date of the trial— for removal of a bullet from his back.

Glaros, 32-year-old resident of Harundale in Anne Arundel County, was indicted by the Dorchester County Grand Jury last month in connection with the safecracking last Nov. 8 at George O. Powley's store in Wingate, Md.

Glaros was indicted for alleged breaking and entering and grand larceny. He is free on $50,000 bail. The jury failed to indict two other men charged in the case — Eugene B. Hurley, 32, and Donald E. Westen, 47, both of Baltimore.

In making his postponement request, O'Donnell turned over to the court a letter from Dr. G. A. Vatos of Baltimore, which said Glaros was in need of the operation.

Glaros walked into Baltimore's Union Memorial Hospital on Feb. 14 and said he had been shot by one of two men who asked him for a match on the street.

Doctors said he had been shot in the left shoulder and the bullet took a downward course. The bullet was not removed at that time and the operation was scheduled after x-rays were taken May 4.

None of the $159,000 in cash and $3,600 in savings bonds taken from Powley's safe has been recovered. Glaros, Hurley and Westen were arrested three days after the burglary.

Cuban Agrarian Reforms May Hit U.S. Investments

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's revolutionary government was all set legally Monday for an agrarian reform program to take what it considers excessive land away from owners and give it to landless peasants. American investments may be affected sharply.

A reform law of 68 sections was signed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro Sunday at a ceremonial Cabinet session in the mountains of Oriente province, where his revolution was born.

Briefly the new law: creates a limit of 999 acres farmland and 3,333 acres for ranchland. However, the institute is empowered to raise the limit in the case of sugar and rice growers and ranchers who exceed production minimums which it will set. Expropriates all excess lands, with compensation to be paid in the form of 20-year government bonds bearing at least 4 per cent interest.

Sets 67 acres as the vital minimum for every rural family of five and provides for distribution to the landless of the amount of land from areas expropriated or already owned by the state. Priorities go to landless revolutionary veterans and to war crime victims.

Orders all landowners to register their holdings with the national institute within three months on pain of loss of property and court charges.

Abolishes sharecropping.

Orders creation of local land reform committees to supervise the operation of the law, with at least half the members to be small landholders—167 acres or less.

Provides for the establishment of a broad system of farm cooperatives and for creation of farm machinery centers from which the institute will rent equipment.

A part of the new law—Section 12—appeared to limit stock holdings in companies operating sugar plantations to Cuban nationals.

This section said limited stock companies would be permitted to exploit sugar plantations only if: 1. All stockholders are named. 2. all stockholders are Cuban citizens.

Polaris Missile Fizzles In Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A Polaris test rocket shot aloft with blinding speed Monday night, but fizzled in flight when the second stage failed to fire.

The Defense Department announced in Washington shortly after the missile was launched at 6:16 p.m. that "preliminary telemetry (instrumentation) data received during the test flight indicated the second stage failed to ignite. The objectives were not achieved."

The test rocket appeared to make a smooth liftoff, but disappeared in the clouds 40 seconds later, blocking the view of ground observers.

It was learned that signals from the missile were lost shortly after the solid-fuel first stage burned out.

It meant that the latest Polaris test could only be a partial success at the most. The last two tests had been successful after a series of earlier disappointments including three blow-ups.

The Navy has set a target date of 1960 to make its 28,500-pound weapon operational. Sixteen of the missiles will be loaded on ocean-prowling, nuclear-powered submarines.

with either of the present regimes in East and West Germany. Thus, he argued, peace treaties with these two parts of Germany, as demanded by the Soviets, could not be a final peace treaty with all Germany.

Gromyko was just as firm in rejecting the Western plan for German reunification and the reuniting of Berlin. The Western powers have suggested ending the division in Berlin as a first step in pulling sundered Germany together, with the city's security guaranteed by the garrisons of the four big powers.

This attitude by Gromyko seemed to leave no maneuvering room on Berlin—the problem involving the greatest immediate danger to world peace.

Gromyko spoke only a few hours after a row developed within the Western camp itself on when and how to approach the Soviets for separate negotiations on the Berlin crisis.

A midday conference of Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano brought an end to this tempest.

The French and West Germany thought the Americans and British made a tactical error by conceding at this stage of the conference that the West would allow the Berlin case to be separated from the rest of its peace package.

The French and West German attitude was sustained. The Western ministers issued a statement saying various questions in their package "can be discussed one by one, but as they are in fact all connected, they cannot be settled in isolation."

It was learned that signals from the missile were lost shortly after the solid-fuel first stage burned out.

It meant that the latest Polaris test could only be a partial success at the most. The last two tests had been successful after a series of earlier disappointments including three blow-ups.

The Navy has set a target date of 1960 to make its 28,500-pound weapon operational. Sixteen of the missiles will be loaded on ocean-prowling, nuclear-powered submarines.

Southern Md. Watermen Seek To Block River Pact

LA PLATA, Md. (AP) — An attorney for Southern Maryland watermen said Monday he believes they will get enough petition signatures to block the proposed new Maryland-Virginia Potomac River compact from taking immediate effect.

Robert T. Barbour, La Plata lawyer, said exact figures were not available on the number of signatures already obtained.

"But I think we'll get the necessary signatures," he said.

If petitions bearing 5,000 signatures are submitted to the Maryland attorney general by June 1 and 5,000 more are turned in by July 1, the proposed new compact would be placed on the next general election ballot for approval by the voters. That would be November, 1960.

As approved by the Maryland and Virginia legislatures, the new compact would set up a six-member commission with equal representation from both states to regulate fishing in the Maryland-owned river.

Requiring approval by Congress, the new agreement would replace the historic Compact of 1785, under which Virginians were given equal fishing rights in the seafood-rich river. This pact was declared void by the 1957 Maryland legislature after a dispute over conservation law enforcement, and Virginia asked the Supreme Court to declare it still in effect.

The new agreement was worked out by a bi-state team of negotiators in an attempt to effect an out-of-court settlement of the action brought by the Old Dominion.

Sen. Walter B. Dorsey (D-St. Marys), who waged a futile filibuster against Maryland ratification of the agreement, said last week about 5,500 names already had been obtained on the petition.

Some Maryland watermen object to the new pact on grounds that it should be given a trial period instead of being a permanent document and it should also include the Virginia-owned lower Chesapeake Bay.

Jail Breakers Ordered Held In $25,000 Bail

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Two men who escaped from the Carroll County jail at Westminster, Md., on May 3 were ordered held in $25,000 bail each Monday for a hearing on a fugitive charge.

District Court Judge Donald E. Mayberry also ordered them held in $15,000 each for grand jury action on a charge of possessing burglary tools.

Hilton R. Davis, 28, of North Butler, Pa., and Leslie Miller, 31, of Westfield, Mass., were captured at nearby Waltham Sunday night after they fled from a stolen car involved in an accident here.

Their mustaches gave them away. The occupants of the other car noted that each wore a mustache and, using this for identification, Waltham police spotted the pair and took them into custody.

Davis pleaded guilty to being a fugitive from justice and innocent to having burglar's tools. Miller pleaded guilty to both charges.

They were not prosecuted on stolen car charges.

The two men told police they walked eight miles to Pennsylvania from the Maryland institution and stole a car. They said they traveled to Westfield, stopping off in New York enroute. They said they stole another car in Russell before journeying towards Boston.

Davis and Miller were arrested in a wooded area near Westminster several weeks ago after stealing a car and a safe from an auto agency in Hampstead, Md.

Police Escort Denied Due To "Shortage"

BALTIMORE (AP) — A manpower shortage kept Baltimore police from escorting a busload of Hagerstown children through the city to Memorial Stadium, a police official said Monday.

"We were told some time ago there would be in the vicinity of 2,500 school children," said Traffic Inspector Bernard Schmidt, "The only reason for the denial of the escort was that we simply had no manpower to supply it."

Schmidt noted that the Preakness was also going on at Pimlico, which further drained police resources.

Sheriff Charles E. Price of Washington County had complained that his request for an escort went unanswered. The school children came here Saturday to attend an Orioles baseball game and take part in ceremonies honoring winners of the school National Safety Award program.

Tiny Transmitter

LONDON (UPI) — Radio Moscow reported Monday technicians had developed a radio transmitter which weighed only four ounces. A broadcast said the transmitter was designed specifically for operations in the upper atmosphere.

Godfrey Child Appointed First Circuit Judge

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Godfrey Child of Pocomoke City, 65-year-old prominent attorney and long-time Worcester County Democrat, has been appointed a judge of the First Judicial Circuit.

The appointment, announced Monday by Gov. Tawes, is effective July 1 under an act of the 1959 General Assembly adding a fourth judge to the circuit embracing Worcester, Wicomico, Somerset and Dorchester on the lower Eastern Shore.

Child was state's attorney for Worcester County in 1926-34. He served with the Army in France, as an infantry lieutenant, during World War I, organized the Pocomoke City National Guard company and served with it from 1923 until 1933.

A lifelong resident of Worcester County, Child was graduated from St. John's College in Annapolis in 1914 and received his law degree from the University of Maryland just before enlisting in the Army. Returning from the service, he practiced law in Baltimore for one year before returning to Pocomoke City.

Quake Rocks Aussies

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — A strong earth tremor rocked a wide area of southeast New South Wales Monday. The shock caused numerous power failures. There was no immediate report of casualties.

Abraham Lincoln's ancestors came from Hingham in Norfolk County, England. A niche in Hingham's church holds a bust of the American President.

The hornbook was an elementary school book in use in England down to the time of George II.

River Cleanup Bills Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was asked today to authorize 75 million dollars worth of new sewers to help clean the Potomac River in the Washington area.

Identical bills were offered by Reps. Richard E. Lankford and John R. Foley, Maryland Democrats, and Joel T. Broyhill, Virginia Republican.

Foley said he is confident the legislation will win approval of Congress.

The bills would authorize construction of sewer lines to carry raw sewage from the central section of the District of Columbia to the treatment plant at Blue Plains.

Nearby Maryland and Virginia communities would be able to use the facilities at a charge which would be fixed later.

Foley estimated the program could be completed in 1966.

Crash Kills 10

MANILA (UPI) — At least 10 persons were killed when a mountain road collapsed under a bus and sent the vehicle plunging 80 feet down a canyon, the Philippine News Service reported Monday. Forty-four passengers were injured.

Have Weighty Problem

ALGIERS (UPI) — Gendarmes at nearby Corso had a big problem on their hands Monday—how to get rid of the carcass of a two-ton elephant that was washed ashore Friday. The bulk was buried on the beach Sunday but was uncovered by the high tides. The gendarmes now plan to truck it inland and bury it again.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce suggested yesterday that the Mayor and Council permit parades only on nights when downtown stores are closed and daytime parades only on holidays.

Referring to the Armed Forces Day parade Monday night and its success as such, the Chamber manager, Robert C. Petersen, said, however, that traffic was unbearable and parking impossible, destroying the enjoyment of the occasion by visitors and residents alike.

The letter was filed by council.

Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association urged council to add fluorine to the water supply as a means of reducing tooth decay in children. Cresaptown uses city water but Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said he is of the opinion that the matter should be decided by a referendum of the people.

Council, which had delayed action one week, awarded to the Heiskell Motor Company of Frostburg, its purchase of a tractor, side and rotary cutter for the flood control maintenance department. Ross Decker of Light and Decker Company, had raised the question last week about whether the Heiskell machine would meet horsepower specifications.

The cost involved is $2,757.04 and the purchase was approved 3-1. Commissioner Philmore Fleming asked to be excused from voting because he said he knew nothing about tractors; and Street Commissioner John J. Long voted "no."

Council also rejected two bids for road oil for city streets and decided the issue should be readvertised by Long. Last week a question over one bid was presented when it arrived four minutes after the 10 a. m. deadline.

In action affecting personnel, council named Earlston H. Peck as painter in the Police Department at $244.50 a month until the regular painter, Robert Groves, who was injured in an auto accident some time ago, returns to work; and granted Ronald E. Livengood leave from the Fire Department to attend Army Reserve training June 20 to July 4.

Ambulance, Car Collide On West Side

Considerable property damage was caused yesterday when an Astor ambulance collided with a car at the intersection of Greene and Lee streets.

Officer Joseph Nelson, who investigated, said his preliminary investigation revealed the ambulance was traveling on Greene Street, ran a red light, and collided with a car driven by George T. DeVore of 443 Columbia Street. The ambulance reportedly had its siren on, and was apparently on an emergency call.

Police said no injuries were caused, however considerable damage was caused to both vehicles.

Engineer Aide Wants Meeting With Council

Charles R. Scarlett, a draftsman in the Engineering Department, said yesterday the Mayor and Council has ignored his request for a meeting with them but he has been advised they feel he is "unqualified" for the post of assistant city engineer.

Scarlett appeared before council yesterday and asked that he be given a reason why he is "unqualified." He said he felt he is qualified by experience although not holding a degree; had been doing assistant city engineer's work for a number of years; been told by the present city engineer, Charles R. Nuzum, that he is qualified; has passed the Civil Service examination for assistant and would like council to reconsider.

The examination which Scarlett took some time ago and the eligible list established at that time was abolished by the present council when it readvertised for assistant engineer applicants. An examination was held later and Scarlett did not take it.

However, Scarlett said "I have learned that this examination was the same one which I passed several years ago."

Then he added "I cannot understand how it can be said I am unqualified."

Street Commissioner John J. Long said he had suggested that council meet and discuss the matter with Scarlett when the situation first came up several weeks ago. Long said he is still of the opinion council should meet with Scarlett and find out whether he is qualified and the reason for saying he is "unqualified."

Two other persons spoke before council yesterday.

One, Mrs. Hazel Shank, 118 Weber Street, irately brought an accumulation of complaints before the group and demanded action. She pointed out such grievances as low water pressure, street surfacing, steps leading to the high elevation in bad repair; high growth of brush along the steps and being required to shovel out of winter's snows without any assistance from the city.

Commissioner Long and G. Ray Light said they would study the problems presented.

On another matter, Guy Clark, 300 South Street, said he had read the first of the city's articles on finances, and said one method of increasing revenue would be to change all parking meters to one and two-hour meters and charge 10 cents an hour. This should double present meter revenues, he said. He added that another possibility would be for the city to take over operation of a parking lot.

Christian Group To Hold Seminar

The Layman's Christian Fundamentalist Association will hold a seminar in "Systematic Theology" Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in Malta Hall, 67 Prospect Square.

Dr. R. W. Trevaskis Sr., secretary, will give a review of "The Consequences of the Hypostatical Union," the subject discussed at the April seminar.

W. Carl Richards, moderator, will lead the discussion of "Heresies Opposed to the Hypostatical Union," the present subject of discussion.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your Elbows Are Showing

Sleeves are going up leaving elbows bare.

This can be quite a problem as one of our readers, a busy mother from St. Louis, writes, "I have an unusual amount of roughness on my elbows and back of the upper arms." She adds that her small daughter doesn't like to put her arms around her — "Oh, Mommie, you've got goose pimples!"

If your elbows are beginning to resemble old walnut shells you may have a great need for vitamin A. Even with a mild deficiency, changes take place in the skin. In fact, the skin may become so dry and rough that the entire body will itch.

Actually what happens is that the cells in the lower layers of skin die and slough off. This in turn plugs the oil sacs and pores. No oil can reach the surface then, and this is probably why you have so much dryness.

With the pores plugged with dead cells your skin can take on the appearance of "goose pimples" even though they are unaffected by temperature changes.

Some day rub your elbows with lemon juice followed by a light coat of vaseline petroleum jelly. You can use the jelly daily, but don't use the bleach more than twice a week—even a fine bleach is quite drying.

You may get roughness on the knees and buttocks, too. Usually this is also a deficiency of vitamin A. The same lack can affect the eyes. They're apt to burn, itch and be inflamed. Or there might be eyestrain.

The hair can also reflect a vitamin deficiency—becoming dry and lacking sheen and luster.

The National Research Council recommends that an adult have 5,000 units of vitamin A daily to maintain health.

Our "Beauty Diet" menus, which have been worked out scientifically, include foods that provide all the nutritional elements necessary to sound health and good looks. You can lose two pounds or better each week, gain one or stay the way you are, by following individual suggestions. Send for "Your Beauty Diet" by enclosing 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Richest sources of vitamin A in foods are: green leaves such as spinach, kale, chard and other greens; string beans, broccoli, carrots, apricots, sweet potatoes, yellow squash, tomatoes, peas, unbleached celery, lettuce and most yellow fruits, liver, kidneys, sweetbreads, eggs, whole milk. Summer butter averages six times as much vitamin A as winter butter (produced when cows are given dry feed), butter substitutes, fish liver oils, beef and mutton liver.

Suit for $45,000 damages was docketed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday by William G. Linn, RD 4, city, against the operators of the GTR Bus Lines for injuries he claims he suffered while a passenger in one of the firm's buses.

The declaration, filed by Thomas N. Berry for Linn, listed Clyde D. Turner Sr., and Lawrence Roderick, operators of the bus line, as defendants.

It was claimed that Linn was a passenger on the bus when it stopped on Oldtown Road near Millstone Store and Service Station on January 26 to let off passengers. Linn alleges that the bus was stopped on the paved surface of the highway and a motorist following crashed into the rear of the bus.

Linn said he suffered injuries to his back and nervous shock. He states he incurred medical and hospital bills as a result.

Fort Ashby Resident Injured In Accident

Martin Judy, 51, Fort Ashby, was admitted to Memorial Hospital Sunday after being injured in an accident at a Fort Ashby garage.

Attaches said Judy was working on a car at the garage when the vehicle pinned his left leg. X-rays were taken and his condition yesterday was reported as "good."

About 70 per cent of the forest fires in the Rocky Mountains of the United States are started by lightning.

Proposal By Rec Director Is Referred For Report

A proposal by Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason in connection with his letter of resignation and conditions under which he would remain on the job, was referred for report by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

A motion to accept his proposal was withdrawn after Commissioner John J. Long said he wanted the answer to a couple of questions.

Mason, in a letter, said he would remain in the position if it is placed under Civil Service and the salary set at $5,000 annually effective June 1.

He said the department should also go under the jurisdiction of the entire Mayor and Council with the director given full power and responsibility of operating it. He said these things had been discussed at previous meetings with council.

Mason said in view of the fact his predecessor had a salary of $6,000 annually and a male assistant approximating a total expenditure of $9,500, and the fact the job involves long hours, he did not believe the requests unreasonable.

Commissioner G. Ray Light made a motion to accept the proposal but withdrew it after Long raised these questions:

(1) Why, after Mason had given "an ultimatum" on salary did he drop his request from $5,500 a year to $5,000; and

(2) The city has an ordinance calling for a Recreation Board, what is going to be done about it?

City Attorney William R. Carscaden pointed out that there are certain ordinances, orders and changes in the director's contract which have to be made in order to accept the proposal. He said council can't accept the letter as final.

As a result, the matter was referred to Carscaden and Long for a report to council.

Mason previously had resigned effective April 28 but agreed to remain while council discussed the situation with him.

He said in his letter yesterday that he would like a final decision yesterday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police searching a wooded area of Baltimore County for a rapist Monday heard running footsteps and fired two warning shots at an unidentified man before he escaped.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce suggested yesterday that the Mayor and Council permit parades only on nights when downtown stores are closed and daytime parades only on holidays.

Referring to the Armed Forces Day parade Monday night and its success as such, the Chamber manager, Robert C. Petersen, said, however, that traffic was unbearable and parking impossible, destroying the enjoyment of the occasion by visitors and residents alike.

The letter was filed by council.

Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association urged council to add fluorine to the water supply as a means of reducing tooth decay in children. Cresaptown uses city water but Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said he is of the opinion that the matter should be decided by a referendum of the people.

Council, which had delayed action one week, awarded to the Heiskell Motor Company of Frostburg, its purchase of a tractor, side and rotary cutter for the flood control maintenance department. Ross Decker of Light and Decker Company, had raised the question last week about whether the Heiskell machine would meet horsepower specifications.

The cost involved is $2,757.04 and the purchase was approved 3-1. Commissioner Philmore Fleming asked to be excused from voting because he said he knew nothing about tractors; and Street Commissioner John J. Long voted "no."

Council also rejected two bids for road oil for city streets and decided the issue should be re-advertised by Long. Last week a question over one bid was presented when it arrived four minutes after the 10 a. m. deadline.

In action affecting personnel, council named Earlston H. Peck as painter in the Police Department at $244.50 a month until the regular painter, Robert Groves, who was injured in an auto accident some time ago, returns to work; and granted Ronald E. Livengood leave from the Fire Department to attend Army Reserve training June 20 to July 4.

Ambulance, Car Collide On West Side

Considerable property damage was caused yesterday when an Astor ambulance collided with a car at the intersection of Greene and Lee streets.

Officer Joseph Nelson, who investigated, said his preliminary investigation revealed the ambulance was traveling on Greene Street, ran a red light, and collided with a car driven by George T. DeVore of 443 Columbia Street. The ambulance reportedly had its siren on, and was apparently on an emergency call.

Police said no injuries were caused, however considerable damage was caused to both vehicles.

Engineer Aide Wants Meeting With Council

Charles R. Scarlett, a draftsman in the Engineering Department, said yesterday the Mayor and Council has ignored his request for a meeting with them but he has been advised they feel he is "unqualified" for the post of assistant city engineer.

Scarlett appeared before council yesterday and asked that he be given a reason why he is "unqualified." He said he felt he is qualified by experience although not holding a degree; had been doing assistant city engineer's work for a number of years; been told by the present city engineer, Charles R. Nuzum, that he is qualified; has passed the Civil Service examination for assistant and would like council to reconsider.

The examination which Scarlett took some time ago and the eligible list established at that time was abolished by the present council when it readvertised for assistant engineer applicants. An examination was held later and Scarlett did not take it.

However, Scarlett said "I have learned that this examination was the same one which I passed several years ago."

Then he added "I cannot understand how it can be said I am unqualified."

Street Commissioner John J. Long said he had suggested that council meet and discuss the matter with Scarlett when the situation first came up several weeks ago. Long said he is still of the opinion council should meet with Scarlett and find out whether he is qualified and the reason for saying he is "unqualified."

Two other persons spoke before council yesterday.

One, Mrs. Hazel Shank, 118 Weber Street, irately brought an accumulation of complaints before the group and demanded action. She pointed out such grievances as low water pressure, street surfacing, steps leading to the high elevation in bad repair; high growth of brush along the steps and being required to shovel out of winter's snows without any assistance from the city.

Commissioner Long and G. Ray Light said they would study the problems presented.

On another matter, Guy Clark, 300 South Street, said he had read the first of the city's articles on finances, and said one method of increasing revenue would be to change all parking meters to one and two-hour meters and charge 10 cents an hour. This should double present meter revenues, he said. He added that another possibility would be for the city to take over operation of a parking lot.

Christian Group To Hold Seminar

Dr. R. W. Trevaskis Sr., secretary, will give a review of "The Consequences of the Hypostatical Union," the subject discussed at the April seminar.

W. Carl Richards, moderator, will lead the discussion of "Heresies Opposed to the Hypostatical Union," the present subject of discussion.

Secrets Of Charm

Your Elbows Are Showing

Sleeves are going up leaving elbows bare.

This can be quite a problem as one of our readers, a busy mother from St. Louis, writes, "I have an unusual amount of roughness on my elbows and back of the upper arms." She adds that her small daughter doesn't like to put her arms around her — "Oh, Mommie, you've got goose pimples!"

If your elbows are beginning to resemble old walnut shells you may have a great need for vitamin A. Even with a mild deficiency, changes take place in the skin. In fact, the skin may become so dry and rough that the entire body will itch.

Actually what happens is that the cells in the lower layers of skin die and slough off. This in turn plugs the oil sacs and pores. No oil can reach the surface then, and this is probably why you have so much dryness.

With the pores plugged with dead cells your skin can take on the appearance of "goose pimples" even though they are unaffected by temperature changes.

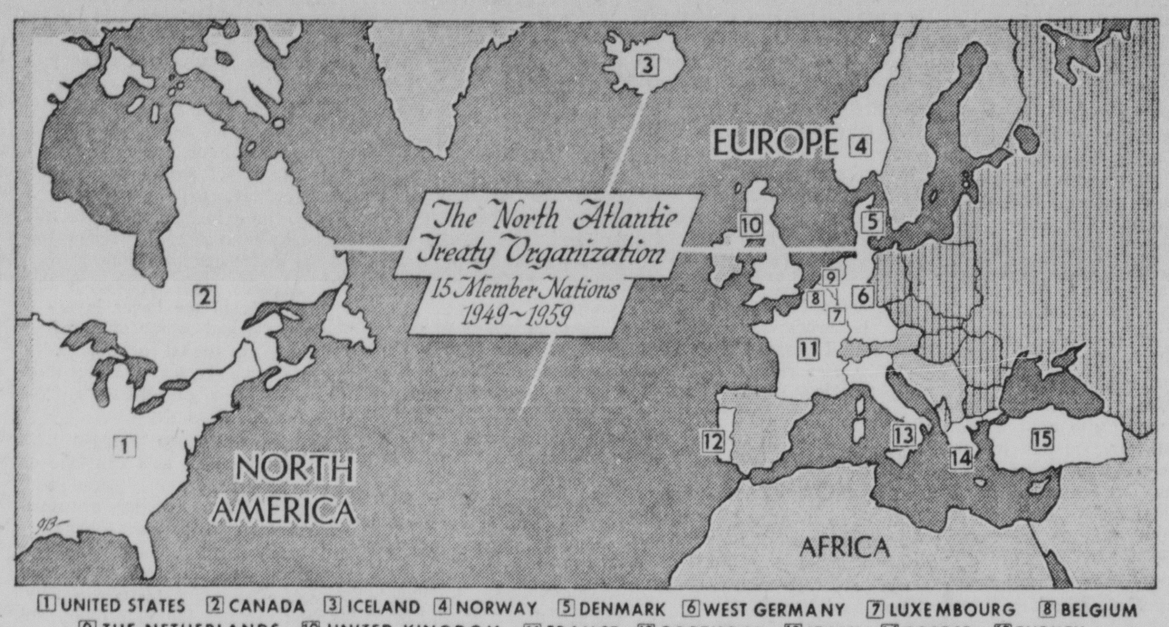
NATO IS TEN

At Washington ceremony in 1949, inaugurating start of North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Secretary of State Dean Acheson signs pact for United States. President Truman and Vice President Barkley watch.



Ten years ago, the representatives of 12 widely spread nations, varying in size from the United States to Luxembourg, sat down in Washington and pledged themselves to collective action in the face of Communist aggression. It was the beginning of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, or NATO. Greece and Turkey joined in 1952, West Germany in 1955.

NATO had little muscle to meet the Communist threat when Gen. Eisenhower became the first Supreme Allied Commander in Europe on Dec. 19, 1950. At his disposal were about 12 divisions, most organized for occupation duty, 400 aircraft and 400 ships.

Today, the picture is vastly different. Assigned and earmarked for Gen. Lauris Norstad, the present Supreme Commander, are 100 Allied divisions in Europe and 6,000 modern tactical aircraft, mostly jet-powered. America's Atlantic and Mediterranean Fleets and the other Allied navies are geared, by training and planning, to NATO defense. The NATO force also includes almost 30 missile battalions.

In the 10 years since 1949 the United States has spent 22 billion dollars for NATO. The European member-nations have spent six times that much. Most of the U. S. contribution has been in military hardware — tanks, aircraft, vehicles, small arms, artillery and ammunition.

Ernest Poland In Mayor Race At Barton

Town Election Set June 1

BARTON — Ernest Poland, an employe of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., has announced his candidacy for mayor of Barton. The town election will be held June 1 from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Candidates for councilmen are Richard Fram, a junior high teacher at Valley High School, and James O'Rourke, who is employed at the Celanese Corporation of America.

Mayor Arthur P. Hoffa and two councilmen, Frank Williams and Maurice Lamberson, whose terms expired, are not candidates for re-election. Holdover councilmen are Patrick H. Gallagher and John Bradley, whose terms expire in 1960.

The next meeting of the council will be held June 10. A meeting of the new elected council will be held the fourth Monday in June according to the Barton municipal laws. The fiscal year ends June 30. At the recent town registration 89 names were added to the registration books, making approximately 250 persons eligible to vote in the town election June 1.

Luke Orders Playground Equipment

LUKE — The Mayor and Council of Luke have ordered a junior climber and 16-foot sliding board for the playground on Luke Hill. New seats have been ordered for the swings, and present equipment is being repaired and painted.

Nine park benches will be placed on different lots and a fence is being constructed around the playground, Clerk Elmer May reports.

Parents are expected to urge children to use the playgrounds for ball playing, and to use soft balls to avoid breaking the glass in cars.

All parking will be taken off Crowmell Street and a two-hour limit will be strictly enforced.

Steps from Fairview Avenue were closed last week for repairs.

Church Women Hold Election

PIEDMONT — The Women's Work Organization of Church of the Brethren elected officers for the coming year recently.

Officers named were Mrs. Vi Randall, president; Mrs. Alice Sagers, vice president; Miss Ruth Wilt, secretary; Mrs. Nellie Travis, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Delsie Combs, treasurer. Mrs. Sagers was the only newly-elected officer.

Nineteen members answered roll call. Mrs. Lois Marsh, Mrs. Josephine Rounds and Mrs. Brenda Smith were received as new members in the organization.

Preceding the business meeting, a program on "Family Life" was presented. Mrs. Leona Smallwood read scripture and a poem, "The Messiah's Mother." Mrs. Edna Marsh read a poem, "Women's Work" and concluded the program with prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Delsie Combs and Mrs. Victoria Uhl.

Plant Work Completed

PIEDMONT — All three reservoirs at the city filtration plant have been cleaned and patched, and all valves are in working order, Mayor Rodney Baker reports. This is the first time the reservoirs have been cleaned as thoroughly in 15 years.

The new fence around the filtration plant is to be erected by the end of the month.

Equipment has been received for a new hydrant which will be placed at the corner of Marshall and Harrison Streets.

The valve on a hydrant in the Orchard Street section has been opened and 110 pound pressure is being maintained in the fire plugs in that area.

After the new fence has been erected, trespassers will be prosecuted. Parents will be held responsible for their children who trespass on the premises or damage or destroy the property.

The Senior Scout Council plans to landscape and improve the grounds after schools close.

Members of the executive committee are George M. Naughton, John B. Determan, Russell T. Brown, Dr. Lawrence D. Fanti and Charles W. Pendergast. The committee has laid plans for a subscription drive during the week. The redeeming of the pledges will be spread over a three-year period, beginning June 1.

Keyser VFW Plans Memorial Day Program

Clyde W. Gardner Is Guest Speaker

KEYSER — Nancy Hanks Post No. 3518, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary, have completed plans for a parade and Memorial Day services at Queen's Point Cemetery at 11 a. m. DST, Saturday, May 30.

Clyde W. Gardner, past president of Keyser Rotary Club, will deliver the Memorial address at services in the cemetery.

The memorial procession, led by the Keyser High School band, will leave the school at 10:15 a. m. DST and march through the eastern part of the city en route to the cemetery. In line will be the color guard and firing squad of the Keyser and McCoole VFW, followed by other auxiliary, semi-military and civic organizations.

The Memorial Day program at the cemetery will be the following:

Presiding, Frank H. Keedy, of the Keyser Toastmaster Club; selection by the high school band, directed by Nunzio Barbera; invocation by Rev. Donald D. Anderson, pastor of Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church; Memorial address by Mr. Gardner; selection by the KHS band; benediction by Rev. Joseph W. Hirsch, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, followed by a military salute by the Keyser-McCoole VFW; taps by Clarence J. Clark and echo by Wayne W. Shaw, followed by decoration of the graves.

If rain should fall to mar the outside services, plans have been made to meet in Keyser High School auditorium.

Church Begins Fund Drive At Westernport

WESTERNPORT — St. Peter's Catholic Church will conduct a fund raising campaign this week to liquidate the parish indebtedness and provide for necessary future improvements and expansion of St. Peter's School.

Increased enrollment in recent years has made the present facilities inadequate, and the expected future growth will further tax those facilities. In addition to children of the parish, students now come from McCoole, Keyser, Midland and Lonaconing. A number of local students who are not members of the parish now attend St. Peter's School.

No definite plans have been formulated as to the school expansion, but as far as can be foreseen at present, the expansion will be necessary in the not too distant future. It's accomplishment will depend largely on the success of the present fund raising campaign.

Members of the executive committee are George M. Naughton, John B. Determan, Russell T. Brown, Dr. Lawrence D. Fanti and Charles W. Pendergast. The committee has laid plans for a subscription drive during the week. The redeeming of the pledges will be spread over a three-year period, beginning June 1.

Twenty teams composed of 82 men and women of the parish will work in pairs and visit each home in the parish.

Eckhart Auxiliary To See Cancer Film

ECKHART — The auxiliary of the Eckhart Square Circle will have Mrs. H. A. Cioni as their guest speaker Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Cioni of the Allegany Cancer Society will show a movie on cancer and will have a local doctor with her who will answer questions from the floor. Each member has been asked to bring a friend to the meeting to view the film. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Minnie Thomas, president, will preside.

HOW TO PAINT A ROOM IN SECRET

Even if the weather keeps doors and windows closed, there are no painty smells to seep through the house, no fumes to make closed room painting unpleasant. And Color-Spree whizzes on with brush, roller or spray, is self-smoothing and dries in thirty minutes or less. No one will even know you've been painting.

Here's the easy-to-use, hard drying, washable flat wall paint you've always wanted. Plastic Color-Spree is self-priming, touch-ups and laps don't show, and spatters clean up with a damp cloth. Brushes and rollers wash clean in water.

There's no easier, pleasanter, "bother-nobody" way to fresh colorful rooms than Kyanize Plastic Color-Spree.

"Thanks for calling"

How often people use those words at the end of a telephone call!

Perhaps they mean "thanks for the good news." Or "thanks for this useful information." Or "thanks for the order."

Sometimes they mean "thanks for thinking of me in my illness or loneliness. Thanks for cheering me up."

Whatever the meaning may be, people do appreciate your calls and you appreciate theirs.

"Thanks for calling" is a constant reminder of how much usefulness and value and friendship your telephone gives you. It's one of life's biggest bargains—any way you think of it.

How to plant your seed-money for a second income

Harvesting a second income really doesn't require any special green thumb. But . . . a little experienced advice on when and where to plant your seed-money can help your crop to grow.

Do a little spade work with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Talk with a Partner or Registered Representative about stocks or bonds. He will use his training and experience to aid and advise you about investing.

Have a down-to-earth chat with him—about how much you'd like to invest and the kind of financial plans you're thinking of. He'll help you decide whether to plant your investment money in bonds or stocks—or perhaps suggest that you keep part of it in cash. And continue to check your investments with him... he'll gladly give you his best advice whether you buy or sell.

Remember, just as every seed doesn't bear flowers, some companies may not pay dividends or interest. And stock and bond prices go down as well as up. That's why you should invest only after providing for living expenses and emergencies.

Never start plowing on the basis of tips or rumors—but get facts and figures from a Member Firm.

You don't have to fork over mounds of money to get started. Through the Monthly Investment Plan, you can begin with as little as $40 every three months—up to $1,000 every month.

If you want to plan towards a second income, call on any Member Firm or send for our interesting free booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." It describes the Monthly Investment Plan, gives interesting facts about investing and lists over 300 stocks that have paid dividends every three months from 20 to 95 years.

How often people use those words at the end of a telephone call!

Perhaps they mean "thanks for the good news." Or "thanks for this useful information." Or "thanks for the order."

Sometimes they mean "thanks for thinking of me in my illness or loneliness. Thanks for cheering me up."

Whatever the meaning may be, people do appreciate your calls and you appreciate theirs.

"Thanks for calling" is a constant reminder of how much usefulness and value and friendship your telephone gives you. It's one of life's biggest bargains—any way you think of it.

Harvesting a second income really doesn't require any special green thumb. But . . . a little experienced advice on when and where to plant your seed-money can help your crop to grow.

Do a little spade work with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Talk with a Partner or Registered Representative about stocks or bonds. He will use his training and experience to aid and advise you about investing.

Have a down-to-earth chat with him—about how much you'd like to invest and the kind of financial plans you're thinking of. He'll help you decide whether to plant your investment money in bonds or stocks—or perhaps suggest that you keep part of it in cash. And continue to check your investments with him... he'll gladly give you his best advice whether you buy or sell.

Remember, just as every seed doesn't bear flowers, some companies may not pay dividends or interest. And stock and bond prices go down as well as up. That's why you should invest only after providing for living expenses and emergencies.

Never start plowing on the basis of tips or rumors—but get facts and figures from a Member Firm.

You don't have to fork over mounds of money to get started. Through the Monthly Investment Plan, you can begin with as little as $40 every three months—up to $1,000 every month.

If you want to plan towards a second income, call on any Member Firm or send for our interesting free booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." It describes the Monthly Investment Plan, gives interesting facts about investing and lists over 300 stocks that have paid dividends every three months from 20 to 95 years.

'Relax – Keep Watching The Swinging Object'

• Three Consecutive Deficit Decades

Little more than a month hence the United States Treasury will close its books on another fiscal year and another deficit will be recorded. And the third deficit decade in a row will be a matter of history.

The U. S. stayed out of the red in only one year in the 1930s. In eight years of the 1940s Uncle Sam spent more than he took in.

The fiscal year 1959 is expected to add $8.5 million to the public debt and it will be the seventh deficit year of the decade it will close. The explanation? Public indifference and complacency as well as pressure groups that advanced their own interests at public expense must bear a large part of the responsibility.

In these deficit decades the U. S. national debt, which stood at $16 billion in 1930, has zoomed to $285 billion. The share of every household in that debt rose from $550 in 1930 to more than 10 times that amount now.

In the same three decades the ratio of $2 in personal savings for every dollar paid in personal income tax has been reversed. Government now takes $2 income for every dollar saved.

Twenty-four years of deficit spending by the federal government in the last 30, a national debt that has increased almost 17-fold, savings that once were double the income tax load now rated at only one-half as great as that levy, and a dollar that has lost more than half its buying power in the last 20 years—isn't the balanced budget long past due?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What Are Wages?

"It's rather disturbing to be reading a fine column by one of your favorites to all at once to come to a statement so glaringly false. How do I know? Well over 40 years in the restaurant business taught me that's how! You state without reservation that this type of personal (sic) is underpaid (dishwasher) & etc. . . ."

I need not continue the correspondent's argument, because the same argument in other language appears on the signs of pickets marching in front of a hospital in New York. The pickets say that they get $38 a week and that it is not enough. Of course, the $38 is take-home pay which is not a wage. The brutal fact, however, of the withholding tax is that to the worker all that matters is the take-home pay. That is what he gets. That is all that he gets.

The federal withholding tax, the state withholding tax (where they collect it that way), social security, union check-off, and whatever else is taken out of the wage enevelope are not regarded as wages. These items are not assumed, by the worker, to be his personal contribution to society because they are never his. These are regarded as bookkeeping devices. What the worker gets is what he actually gets. It is the take-home pay.

This is a trick upon the people of this country. The inventors of this device have done the United States mischief because they created a fairy tale world. Wages are not what they are meant to be; they are the stated amount less a number of deductions and the more the deductions, the more reason there is to strike for higher pay. Add to that the inflation and the worker discovers that money ain't what it used to be. In fact, what is money during a period of inflation?

The question then arises: What is a fair wage? It is something very difficult to determine, particularly at a time when skilled labor is being replaced by machine tenders who at best are semi-skilled workers and most often are unskilled workers.

If a just wage is a social wage, that is, a minimum wage upon which a family can subsist, then the question arises whether goods can be produced at a reasonable price. For instance, this country's product is outpricing itself in many markets. Is this outpricing due to excessive wages, excessive taxes, excessive overhead or to the advantage of government subsidies to foreign competitors?

So we have a look at New England fishing which at this moment is having a very tough time. In the first place, geography plays a part and our government does not have the interest or money to study geography. By that I mean that the fish are moving farther to the Northeast and therefore New England fishermen are required to sail too far to get the fish. This involves wage costs. Nevertheless, Canadian fishermen do not find it too costly and they come into American ports, land their fish here and thrive on the trade. They get a subsidy from their government, pay lower wages, and undoubtedly have tax advantages. The American fisherman is caught between geography and economics and he suffers.

I take this as one example that comes to mind, but there are many others. When wages or taxes outprice a commodity, the worker suffers unless a high tariff keeps out competing products. But sometimes, when the price is too high, for whatever reason, folks just don't buy. They use what they have and make it do. Then there is a depression and workers are without jobs.

Wages control the price. The price controls sales. Sales produce work. No sales—no work. No work—no wages. It is a vicious circle. The economics of it are crystal clear. Political speeches, bureaucratic gobbledygook, egghead assertions will not solve any of these problems because they are inherent in our system. In a word, world leadership, as it is called, has in a measure made us dependent upon those whom we desire to lead. If we outprice ourselves in the world market in order to help the nations which we pretend to lead, we may find ourselves broke and depressed and isolated.

Washington Gave Congress Papers That Embarrassed Own Cabinet

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The stern visage and powdered pompadour of George Washington seemed to hang over the hearings of Adm. Lewis Strauss last week. The precedents he allegedly set forth for restricting information to Congress were quoted, as they have also been quoted repeatedly by the Eisenhower administration in repeatedly narrowing the information given to Congress and the American people.

The interesting question, however, is exactly what Washington did do as first President of the United States that gives Mr. Eisenhower and his Cabinet members the excuse for withholding all sorts of information as a matter of "executive privilege"—the glorified label for secrecy.

The question is important because right now some Senators, such as Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Tom Hennings of Missouri, feel that a vote to confirm Admiral Strauss as Secretary of Commerce is a vote to make official and permanent his refusal to answer Congressional questions, thus permanently narrowing this already narrowed field of information.

How much Ike's legal advisers and Admiral Strauss have really dug into the precedents set by George Washington is not known, but it's suspected that either they haven't done much or else they have convenient memories. For Ike's No. 1 legal adviser, Attorney General Bill Rogers, when counsel for the old Truman investigating committee, used to argue emphatically from the other side of the table. He maintained that the White House had to supply information to Congress.

What Washington Did

One man who has dug into these secrecy precedents, however, is Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and a relentless seeker of the truth. His painstaking research is highly revealing and should be required reading for Admiral Strauss and other Cabinet members who balk at answering questions from Congress. They will find it in the Federal Bar Journal for January, 1959.

The first and major test of whether President Washington was to give embarrassing information to Congress came after General St. Clair's force of 1,400 men was surprised by an Indian attack near Miami, Ohio, on November 3, 1791, with a loss of 900 men. The disordered defeat was highly embarrassing to the Executive Branch of government but the House of Representatives passed a resolution to investigate, and demanded the records.

President Washington called a meeting of his Cabinet to decide whether the confidential papers should be sent to Congress. The minutes of that Cabinet meeting, as set forth by Thomas Jefferson, are revealing.

"Hamilton," recounts Jefferson, "agreed with us as to the power of the House to call on heads of departments . . . But he thought himself not so far subject as to be obliged to produce all the papers they might call for. They might be secrets of a very mischievous nature."

And at this point, the founder of the Democratic Party, Jefferson, added this parenthesis regarding the founder of the Republican Party, Hamilton: "(Here I thought he began to fear they would go on to examining how far their own members and other persons in the government had been dabbling in stocks, banks, etc. . . .)"

"Finally agreed," concluded Jefferson "to speak separately to the members of the committee, and bring them by persuasion into the right channel. It was agreed in this case that there was not a paper which might not be properly produced; that if they should desire it, a clerk should attend with the originals to be verified by themselves."

As editor Wiggins sums it up: "The House demanded the papers. The Cabinet agreed that the House might institute inquiries. It thought it might call for papers. It thought the President should exercise discretion, but in this case decided to make all the papers available."

Increasing Secrecy

Wiggins continues his painstaking research to show how the executive's confidential correspondence was generally given to Congress in the early days of the Republic, but how secrecy has steadily increased "until now it threatens to deprive citizens of the knowledge essential to self-government."

He cites the struggle of our Anglo-Saxon ancestors in England in securing freedom of information from the British Crown, and quotes the messages of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe on freedom of information. There seems no doubt where the Founding Fathers stood on this point.

In contrast, Admiral Strauss repeatedly refused to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1955 regarding certain phrases of the Dixon-Yates conflict-of-interest case, the biggest since Teapot Dome. And testifying before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee last week, he still refused to answer those questions — said he would continue to do so, even if advised to the contrary by the Attorney General.

Foreign Ministers May Confer Indefinitely

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — Why should the Soviets agree to anything here? They have already been told officially that time means nothing—that there will be a series of foreign ministers conferences and "summit" meetings anyhow over a period of years. This gives the impression that the Western allies feel no sense of urgency, and it fits in, of course, with the Soviet idea that, as time goes on, the peoples of the "captive" countries will become discouraged and accept Communistic enslavement as their permanent lot.

Out of the entire "package" plan, Nikita Khrushchev, with a shrewd facility for determining the weakness in his adversary's proposals, grabs eagerly the suggestion that there should be an East German and West German conference committee that could talk for the next several years about German reunification. The Soviet chief says, indeed, that the representation must be equal, and cavalierly dismisses the fact that East Germany has much the smaller population of the two Germanies. But he sees the chance for a prolonged palaver which can last for ten years—as did the negotiations over Austria. The formula is defended by Moscow as manifesting a continuous willingness to negotiate. It comes also within the definition of "flexibility" which the faint-hearted in the West have been saying John Foster Dulles lacked.

But what does a continuous hassle on the status of East and West Germany really mean? As for the problem of West Berlin, this would be disposed of by Moscow in what is called an "interim solution," which means that it will hang like a sword of Damocles over the heads of the West and threaten them with a crisis every time they show a bit of firmness on the reunification problem.

But it means something more. Behind the Iron Curtain, in the so-called "Satellite" countries, are many millions of freedom-loving people who yearn for liberation. Will the Western allies forsake them? It would seem to look that way if the British suggestion for a series of conferences by foreign ministers and lots of "Summit" meetings in the next several years is to furnish the Soviets an easy way to avoid any change in the status of Eastern and Central Europe.

What is the alternative? Is it only war? Too many people have become convinced that military force alone is the instrument by which international disputes can be solved. It is true that there must be a readiness to retaliate if attacked and that adequate armament is essential, but actually moral force is a far more powerful weapon. Eventually it can arouse all the peoples behind the Iron Curtain to assert themselves. In the present situation it calls for world-wide cries of indignation over the Soviet attitude toward a homogeneous people in the two Germanies who are given no hope of unity except under conditions dictated by the Communist autarchy. This means isolation and insecurity for the German people, if not Communist domination of them.

The evidence is clear. Tens of thousands of East Germans are fleeing every week from under the control of the Communists. There is a similar exodus from other countries behind the Iron Curtain. This flight from tyranny is significant.

Why, moreover, is there such silence, if not indifference, throughout the world with respect to the plight of the 63,000 human beings forcibly removed from Hungary in 1956 by Soviet troops and never brought back to their homeland? Among them are 5,000 skilled workers taken from big industrial plants who were then shipped to China to work as slaves under the Communists there. The deported Hungarian boys and girls—many of whom were between the ages of 14 and 18—are still in Siberia today in prison camps. In the last few days there have been rumors that, when they reach the age of 18, they are executed. This has been denied by the Soviets, but they never tell why they are keeping the Hungarians in bondage.

The lesson is plain. The Soviets feel they own all the "Satellite" countries — Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania as well as East Germany. They want to incorporate West Germany in their bloc of states. The first move is to offer a "peace treaty" and recognize East Germany as a supposedly sovereign country. But the real plan is to get the allied troops away from Berlin and the vicinity of East Germany so that the process of infiltrating and intimidating West Germany can go on.

The Soviet chief, in his speech over the week end, rejected all proposals for reduction of armament in Central Europe made by the West. His demand is that the military bases on the continent be abandoned by the West, that NATO be dismantled, and that American forces be sent back to the United States. This comes just after the hopes of a credulous world were raised that a "serious negotiation" might be forthcoming this month in Geneva at a foreign ministers conference or at a "Summit" meeting later.

What Khrushchev really is demanding is the unconditional surrender of the West. He thinks the Western allies are divided and that their differences can be exploited. He is convinced that, in the final analysis, they are so scared of a nuclear war that they can be easily browbeaten into acceptance of Moscow's demands. He is counting on a flabby public opinion in Britain as well as in America to accept peace at any price as preferable to war. He thinks the American people will soon forget the millions of people behind the Iron Curtain.

Where will the leadership come from that speaks firmly and is willing to risk war to avoid war? For repeated appeasements only bring on the same kind of situations out of which world wars have come in the past.

If the American people, surveying the skimpy results here, acquiesce to a "Summit" meeting, it can prove the biggest setback to the cause of freedom since the brave Hungarians battled for freedom three years ago only to be forsaken. So it is the Geneva conference — not the "Summit" meeting — which presents the real challenge now to the leadership of the United States in world affairs.

Not Under Threat

By Joseph Alsop

GENEVA

A small yet dramatic episode of Andrei Gromyko's dinner for his colleagues at the Geneva conference is worth describing, for the modest hope it offers.

At this Gromyko party, held last week, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was as usual disinclined to self-assertion. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd led the talk, which was friendly. At a certain moment, however, the Soviet host chose to expatiate on his own restraint and amiability, pointing out that he had never yet tried to get his way by repeating Nikita Khrushchev's threat to sign a peace treaty with the East Germans without further delay.

Thus Gromyko exhibited, without exactly brandishing, the Soviets' weapon - in - reserve for bringing the Berlin crisis to an immediate head. After signature of such a treaty, for instance, East German highway controls would at once replace Soviet controls on the access routes to Berlin.

Turning to Herter with a seeming-friendly smile, Gromyko added that he hoped the Western allies would be careful not to force him to abandon his remarkable self-restraint. There was a moment of silence, until Herter answered, unsmiling:

"I cannot decide what others do or say, but I wish to make one point absolutely clear. The United States will not go onwards to a conference at the summit under any sort of threat."

As the story is told by those who should know, there was another moment of silence, and the conversation was then resumed in another tone and on other topics. Thus, in a single short exchange, Gromyko and Herter summed up the reasons for comparative optimism that the past week has produced.

The Soviets' omission of their usual open menaces, noted by Gromyko, is one of several encouraging omissions. The failure to insist at great length on full admission of the Czechs and Poles is another sign of the same sort. Still another is Gromyko's own relatively human demeanor. (Two years ago, Nikita Khrushchev told this reporter with a grin, "Even our glum comrade Gromyko can be taught to smile on occasion." And here is Gromyko, no doubt after many a painful lesson, grinning away like a novice candidate for Congress.)

These signs are of course far from decisive. Yet perhaps too hopefully, the Western representatives most expert in dealings with the Soviets have now begun to rule out the very worst possibilities.

That may not sound particularly optimistic. Yet the Soviets began the Berlin crisis on a note of naked military menace. This Geneva conference itself opened to the echo of Nikita Khrushchev's latest bout of bomb-rattling. The differences of viewpoint between the British and the other Western allies still constitute a standing temptation to the Soviets, to try to divide the alliance by creating an atmosphere of tension and alarm. If this method is not to be used, the outlook is at least considerably brighter than it might have been.

This rather negative improvement in the outlook is coupled with something more positive. In brief, the Western experts are more and more inclined to think that the Soviets plan to pave the road to the summit with something that can at least be taken as evidence of good intentions, even if it is not very strong evidence.

Last time, the price the Kremlin paid for a summit conference was the liberation of Austria, which was a good, hard, solid price indeed. In the new world situation, nothing like that can be dimly hoped for. But the Soviets may perhaps make the concessions that would lead to an accord in principle on halting nuclear tests — an accord much wanted by the Kremlin, much loathed and feared by Gen. de Gaulle, wishfully desired by British public opinion, and tepidly regarded in Washington.

If the Soviets merely give way a little on nuclear test controls, in order to get the accord they have always wanted, they can count on a strongly favorable reaction in the present state of world opinion. Maybe, so the experts say, Gromyko will go even further. Maybe he will create the conditions for an acceptable solution of the crucial, desperately dangerous Berlin problem. The principle already laid down by John Foster Dulles, the principle of recognition by the Soviets of the East Germans as their "agents," is an obvious key to a possible solution.

If these hopeful forecasts prove halfway correct, however, it will also prove that Nikita Khrushchev has other subjects he wants to talk about at the summit besides Berlin and the division of Germany. The Berlin crisis will have partly served as a lever, in fact, to force discussion of these other subjects. The American Ambassador to Moscow, the able Llewellyn Thompson, has long maintained that Khrushchev had something to say of great importance, which he wished to say only in person and only to the President of the United States.

This special thing that Khrushchev wishes to say to Eisenhower could turn out to be the central topic at the summit. Whatever it may be, it is worth hearing, but it will probably not be pleasant to hear.

The first of April, 1960, will mean a great deal more to the citizens of the United States than just another April Fool's Day, for on that date 160,000 interviewers for Uncle Sam will begin counting all his nephews and nieces in the 18th decennial population and housing census in American history.

As a result, exclusive of the two baby states, Alaska and Hawaii, some 23 states will either gain or lose in representation in Congress.

States which will probably gain in number of representatives are California, seven; Florida, three; Michigan, two; Indiana, Arizona, Ohio, Maryland, Oregon and Texas, one each.

Probable losers are New York and Pennsylvania, three each; Massachusetts and Arkansas, two each; Illinois, Alabama, Iowa, Georgia, Maine, Minnesota, Kansas, Mississippi, North Carolina and West Virginia, one each.

Fatigue And Lassitude After Influenza Attacks

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

After an attack of influenza or nasal infection, many sufferers are left feeling like an old dishrag. They have as much pep as a mud turtle and any exertion brings on fatigue, sweating, and palpitation.

The physician may prescribe a tonic after he satisfies himself that no complications exist. The most popular are vitamin B complex and vitamin B 12. These products give a lift, especially when large doses are administered hypodermically.

But there is a limit to the value of any tonic, especially when it has the effect of "whipping a tired horse." This is particularly true in the aged, the debilitated, and victims of heart trouble who have not recovered completely from the infectious process.

When fatigue persists after an infection, the individual should rest more and avoid undue strain until he is fully recovered. He need not stay in bed but he should not try to work full time. A happy medium is the best solution.

On the other hand, the lassitude that follows the flu may stem from a complication. When a person drags about for several weeks after the flu, despite tonics and adequate rest, a thorough examination is in order, including a search for hidden sources of infection.

Mary, for example, found herself in this predicament. The usual tests for sinus trouble were negative. To make doubly sure, a diagnostic irrigation was done. The ensuing discomfort was worth the effort because a large amount of pus drained out of the ethnoid sinuses. Here was the source of her discomfort and, after a few treatments, she recovered.

A banker down the street had a similar experience with post-influenzal fatigue. X-ray of the lungs uncovered a small patch of pneumonia that was in the process of healing. It had been well masqueraded by the original flu attack.

The search for a complicating infection might disclose nothing. Fatigue is part of the flu syndrome and little can be done until the residual effects disappear.

'Relax – Keep Watching The Swinging Object'

•Three Consecutive Deficit Decades

Little more than a month hence the United States Treasury will close its books on another fiscal year and another deficit will be recorded. And the third deficit decade in a row will be a matter of history.

The U. S. stayed out of the red in only one year in the 1930s. In eight years of the 1940s Uncle Sam spent more than he took in.

The fiscal year 1959 is expected to add $8.5 million to the public debt and it will be the seventh deficit year of the decade it will close. The explanation? Public indifference and complacency as well as pressure groups that advanced their own interests at public expense must bear a large part of the responsibility.

In these deficit decades the U. S. national debt, which stood at $16 billion in 1930, has zoomed to $285 billion. The share of every household in that debt rose from $550 in 1930 to more than 10 times that amount now.

In the same three decades the ratio of $2 in personal savings for every dollar paid in personal income tax has been reversed. Government now takes $2 income for every dollar saved.

Twenty-four years of deficit spending by the federal government in the last 30, a national debt that has increased almost 17-fold, savings that once were double the income tax load now rated at only one-half as great as that levy, and a dollar that has lost more than half its buying power in the last 20 years—isn't the balanced budget long past due?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What Are Wages?

"It's rather disturbing to be reading a fine column by one of your favorites to all at once to come to a statement so glaringly false. How do I know? Well over 40 years in the restaurant business taught me that's how! You state without reservation that this type of personal (sic) is underpaid (dishwasher) & etc. . . ."

I need not continue the correspondent's argument, because the same argument in other language appears on the signs of pickets marching in front of a hospital in New York. The pickets say that they get $38 a week and that it is not enough. Of course, the $38 is take-home pay which is not a wage. The brutal fact, however, of the withholding tax is that to the worker all that matters is the take-home pay. That is what he gets. That is all that he gets.

The federal withholding tax, the state withholding tax (where they collect it that way), social security, union check-off, and whatever else is taken out of the wage enevelope are not regarded as wages. These items are not assumed, by the worker, to be his personal contribution to society because they are never his. These are regarded as bookkeeping devices. What the worker gets is what he actually gets. It is the take-home pay.

This is a trick upon the people of this country. The inventors of this device have done the United States mischief because they created a fairy tale world. Wages are not what they are meant to be; they are the stated amount less a number of deductions and the more the deductions, the more reason there is to strike for higher pay. Add to that the inflation and the worker discovers that money ain't what it used to be. In fact, what is money during a period of inflation?

The question then arises: What is a fair wage? It is something very difficult to determine, particularly at a time when skilled labor is being replaced by machine tenders who at best are semi-skilled workers and most often are unskilled workers.

If a just wage is a social wage, that is, a minimum wage upon which a family can subsist, then the question arises whether goods can be produced at a reasonable price. For instance, this country's product is outpricing itself in many markets. Is this outpricing due to excessive wages, excessive taxes, excessive overhead or to the advantage of government subsidies to foreign competitors?

So we have a look at New England fishing which at this moment is having a very tough time. In the first place, geography plays a part and our government does not have the interest or money to study geography. By that I mean that the fish are moving farther to the Northeast and therefore New England fishermen are required to sail too far to get the fish. This involves wage costs. Nevertheless, Canadian fishermen do not find it too costly and they come into American ports, land their fish here and thrive on the trade. They get a subsidy from their government, pay lower wages, and undoubtedly have tax advantages. The American fisherman is caught between geography and economics and he suffers.

I take this as one example that comes to mind, but there are many others. When wages or taxes outprice a commodity, the worker suffers unless a high tariff keeps out competing products. But sometimes, when the price is too high, for whatever reason, folks just don't buy. They use what they have and make it do. Then there is a depression and workers are without jobs.

Wages control the price. The price controls sales. Sales produce work. No sales—no work. No work—no wages. It is a vicious circle. The economics of it are crystal clear. Political speeches, bureaucratic gobbledygook, egghead assertions will not solve any of these problems because they are inherent in our system. In a word, world leadership, as it is called, has in a measure made us dependent upon those whom we desire to lead. If we outprice ourselves in the world market in order to help the nations which we pretend to lead, we may find ourselves broke and depressed and isolated.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The stern visage and powdered pompadour of George Washington seemed to hang over the hearings of Adm. Lewis Strauss last week. The precedents he allegedly set forth for restricting information to Congress were quoted, as they have also been quoted repeatedly by the Eisenhower administration in repeatedly narrowing the information given to Congress and the American people.

The interesting question, however, is exactly what Washington did do as first President of the United States that gives Mr. Eisenhower and his Cabinet members the excuse for withholding all sorts of information as a matter of "executive privilege"—the glorified label for secrecy.

The question is important because right now some Senators, such as Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Tom Hennings of Missouri, feel that a vote to confirm Admiral Strauss as Secretary of Commerce is a vote to make official and permanent his refusal to answer Congressional questions, thus permanently narrowing this already narrowed field of information.

How much Ike's legal advisers and Admiral Strauss have really dug into the precedents set by George Washington is not known, but it's suspected that either they haven't done much or else they have convenient memories. For Ike's No. 1 legal adviser, Attorney General Bill Rogers, when counsel for the old Truman investigating committee, used to argue emphatically from the other side of the table. He maintained that the White House had to supply information to Congress.

What Washington Did

One man who has dug into these secrecy precedents, however, is Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and a relentless seeker of the truth. His painstaking research is highly revealing and should be required reading for Admiral Strauss and other Cabinet members who balk at answering questions from Congress. They will find it in the Federal Bar Journal for January, 1959.

The first and major test of whether President Washington was to give embarrassing information to Congress came after General St. Clair's force of 1,400 men was surprised by an Indian attack near Miami, Ohio, on November 3, 1791, with a loss of 900 men. The disordered defeat was highly embarrassing to the Executive Branch of government but the House of Representatives passed a resolution to investigate, and demanded the records.

President Washington called a meeting of his Cabinet to decide whether the confidential papers should be sent to Congress. The minutes of that Cabinet meeting, as set forth by Thomas Jefferson, are revealing.

"Hamilton," recounts Jefferson, "agreed with us as to the power of the House to call on heads of departments . . . But he thought himself not so far subject as to be obliged to produce all the papers they might call for. They might be secrets of a very mischievous nature."

And at this point, the founder of the Democratic Party, Jefferson, added this parenthesis regarding the founder of the Republican Party, Hamilton: "(Here I thought he began to fear they would go on to examining how far their own members and other persons in the government had been dabbling in stocks, banks, etc. . . .)"

"Finally agreed," concluded Jefferson "to speak separately to the members of the committee, and bring them by persuasion into the right channel. It was agreed in this case that there was not a paper which might not be properly produced; that if they should desire it, a clerk should attend with the originals to be verified by themselves."

As editor Wiggins sums it up: "The House demanded the papers. The Cabinet agreed that the House might institute inquiries. It thought it might call for papers. It thought the President should exercise discretion, but in this case decided to make all the papers available."

Increasing Secrecy

Wiggins continues his painstaking research to show how the executive's confidential correspondence was generally given to Congress in the early days of the Republic, but how secrecy has steadily increased "until now it threatens to deprive citizens of the knowledge essential to self-government."

He cites the struggle of our Anglo-Saxon ancestors in England in securing freedom of information from the British Crown, and quotes the messages of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe on freedom of information. There seems no doubt where the Founding Fathers stood on this point.

In contrast, Admiral Strauss repeatedly refused to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1955 regarding certain phrases of the Dixon-Yates conflict-of-interest case, the biggest since Teapot Dome. And testifying before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee last week, he still refused to answer those questions — said he would continue to do so, even if advised to the contrary by the Attorney General.

Not Under Threat

By Joseph Alsop

GENEVA

At this Gromyko party, held last week, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was as usual disinclined to self-assertion. Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd led the talk, which was friendly. At a certain moment, however, the Soviet host chose to expatiate on his own restraint and amiability, pointing out that he had never yet tried to get his way by repeating Nikita Khrushchev's threat to sign a peace treaty with the East Germans without further delay.

Thus Gromyko exhibited, without exactly brandishing, the Soviets' weapon - in - reserve for bringing the Berlin crisis to an immediate head. After signature of such a treaty, for instance, East German highway controls would at once replace Soviet controls on the access routes to Berlin.

Turning to Herter with a seeming-friendly smile, Gromyko added that he hoped the Western allies would be careful not to force him to abandon his remarkable self-restraint. There was a moment of silence, until Herter answered, unsmiling:

"I cannot decide what others do or say, but I wish to make one point absolutely clear. The United States will not go onwards to a conference at the summit under any sort of threat."

As the story is told by those who should know, there was another moment of silence, and the conversation was then resumed in another tone and on other topics. Thus, in a single short exchange, Gromyko and Herter summed up the reasons for comparative optimism that the past week has produced.

The Soviets' omission of their usual open menaces, noted by Gromyko, is one of several encouraging omissions. The failure to insist at great length on full admission of the Czechs and Poles is another sign of the same sort. Still another is Gromyko's own relatively human demeanor. (Two years ago, Nikita Khrushchev told this reporter with a grin, "Even our glum comrade Gromyko can be taught to smile on occasion." And here is Gromyko, no doubt after many a painful lesson, grinning away like a novice candidate for Congress.)

These signs are of course far from decisive. Yet perhaps too hopefully, the Western representatives most expert in dealings with the Soviets have now begun to rule out the very worst possibilities.

That may not sound particularly optimistic. Yet the Soviets began the Berlin crisis on a note of naked military menace. This Geneva conference itself opened to the echo of Nikita Khrushchev's latest bout of bomb-rattling. The differences of viewpoint between the British and the other Western allies still constitute a standing temptation to the Soviets, to try to divide the alliance by creating an atmosphere of tension and alarm. If this method is not to be used, the outlook is at least considerably brighter than it might have been.

This rather negative improvement in the outlook is coupled with something more positive. In brief, the Western experts are more and more inclined to think that the Soviets plan to pave the road to the summit with something that can at least be taken as evidence of good intentions, even if it is not very strong evidence.

Last time, the price the Kremlin paid for a summit conference was the liberation of Austria, which was a good, hard, solid price indeed. In the new world situation, nothing like that can be dimly hoped for. But the Soviets may perhaps make the concessions that would lead to an accord in principle on halting nuclear tests — an accord much wanted by the Kremlin, much loathed and feared by Gen. de Gaulle, wishfully desired by British public opinion, and tepidly regarded in Washington.

If the Soviets merely give way a little on nuclear test controls, in order to get the accord they have always wanted, they can count on a strongly favorable reaction in the present state of world opinion. Maybe, so the experts say, Gromyko will go even further. Maybe he will create the conditions for an acceptable solution of the crucial, desperately dangerous Berlin problem. The principle already laid down by John Foster Dulles, the principle of recognition by the Soviets of the East Germans as their "agents," is an obvious key to a possible solution.

If these hopeful forecasts prove halfway correct, however, it will also prove that Nikita Khrushchev has other subjects he wants to talk about at the summit besides Berlin and the division of Germany. The Berlin crisis will have partly served as a lever, in fact, to force discussion of these other subjects. The American Ambassador to Moscow, the able Llewellyn Thompson, has long maintained that Khrushchev had something to say of great importance, which he wished to say only in person and only to the President of the United States.

This special thing that Khrushchev wishes to say to Eisenhower could turn out to be the central topic at the summit. Whatever it may be, it is worth hearing, but it will probably not be pleasant to hear.

White Sox Take Over Lead In AL

Top Senators, 9-2, For Early Wynn, Replace Tribe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The fast-moving Chicago White Sox moved into the American League lead Monday night propelled by the strong right arm of Early Wynn who registered his 255th career victory with a 9-2 breeze over the Washington Senators.

The White Sox took over undisputed possession of first place by three percentage points from the Cleveland Indians who were shut out by Baltimore. Chicago shared the league lead for the first four days of this season but this is the first time since June 27, 1957, that the White Sox have been the sole tenants of the American League penthouse.

Wynn tossed a five-hitter at the Senators who were tamed except in the sixth when Reno Bertoia's two run homer, his fifth of the year, spoiled the veteran right hander's bid for the 40th shutout of his 20-year career.

The White Sox touched up Stobbs for three runs in the first inning and Lollar's fifth homer of the year in the fourth made it 4-0.

Baltimore Hurlers Hold Loop Leaders To Six Safeties

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seldom-used Hal Brown and relief specialist Billy Loes combined to pitch the Baltimore Orioles to a six-hit 3-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Monday night.

In his second start of the season, Brown, 34, struck out five and allowed six scattered hits before he was lifted in favor of Loes with two men on and two out in the eighth.

Loes retired Rocky Colavito, who had a single and double previously, and then set down the Indians in order in the ninth.

Baltimore's hot-shot rookie Willie Tasby figured in both of his team's scoring rallies. After his two-out single in the third sent Billy Gardner to second, Ferrarese issued consecutive walks to Bob Boyd and Bob Nieman to force in a run.

Aaron Extends Hitting Streak As Braves Win

Spahn Scores 5th Over Giants, 4-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Slugging Hank Aaron hit safely in his 22nd straight game Monday, knocking in the final Brave run as Milwaukee beat the San Francisco Giants 4-2.

Ace lefthander Warren Spahn notched his fifth victory of the season against four defeats, boosting the Braves' National League lead to 3½ games over the second place Giants.

Aaron's hit, his only one for the day, came in the sixth. He doubled to center to score the fourth Milwaukee run off loser Sam Jones.

The Braves collected 13 hits off a trio of San Francisco pitchers—Jones, Alan Worthington and Gordon Jones — while Spahn scattered nine San Francisco blows.

Tigers Get 16 Hits, Four Clout Homers

BOSTON (UPI) —Slim Jim Bunning smashed a home run, triple, and a pair of singles, good for five runs batted in, and checked the Boston Red Sox on seven hits Monday while his Detroit Tiger mates racked up a 14-2 victory.

The last-place Tigers sprayed Fenway Park and four Boston hurlers with 16 hits, including homers by Bunning, Al Kaline, Frank Bolling, and Charlie Maxwell. Don Buddin socked one for Boston.

In addition, Detroit pounded out five doubles, two by Eddie Yost, while scoring in every inning except the fourth and ninth.

Bunning, notching his fourth win against three losses, smashed a three-run homer off reliefer Frank Baumann in the third inning, tripled to drive in a run in the fifth, beat out an infield hit in the four-run Tiger seventh, and singled home another tally in the eighth.

Ted Williams, hitless in 15 trips going into the contest, singled and doubled in four appearances, setting up Boston's first run in the first inning.

Barton Chalks Up Fifth Straight

Barton's Braves racked up a total of 13 hits and romped to their fifth consecutive win of the season over Mt. Savage yesterday in a Twilight Baseball League game at Barton. The score was 11-4.

Louis Fazenbaker held the last place Mt. Savage team to eight scattered hits and fired the third strike past eight batsmen. He gave up only one pass.

Woody Symons continued his hitting streak by obtaining a double and single. He boosted his average to .667 by collecting 10 hits in 15 trips to the plate in five contests. White Sox Take Over Lead In AL

Top Senators, 9-2, For Early Wynn, Replace Tribe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The fast-moving Chicago White Sox moved into the American League lead Monday night propelled by the strong right arm of Early Wynn who registered his 255th career victory with a 9-2 breeze over the Washington Senators.

The White Sox took over undisputed possession of first place by three percentage points from the Cleveland Indians who were shut out by Baltimore. Chicago shared the league lead for the first four days of this season but this is the first time since June 27, 1957, that the White Sox have been the sole tenants of the American League penthouse.

Wynn tossed a five-hitter at the Senators who were tamed except in the sixth when Reno Bertoia's two run homer, his fifth of the year, spoiled the veteran right hander's bid for the 40th shutout of his 20-year career.

The White Sox touched up Stobbs for three runs in the first inning and Lollar's fifth homer of the year in the fourth made it 4-0.

Baltimore Hurlers Hold Loop Leaders To Six Safeties

BALTIMORE (AP) — Seldom-used Hal Brown and relief specialist Billy Loes combined to pitch the Baltimore Orioles to a six-hit 3-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians Monday night.

In his second start of the season, Brown, 34, struck out five and allowed six scattered hits before he was lifted in favor of Loes with two men on and two out in the eighth.

Loes retired Rocky Colavito, who had a single and double previously, and then set down the Indians in order in the ninth.

Baltimore's hot-shot rookie Willie Tasby figured in both of his team's scoring rallies. After his two-out single in the third sent Billy Gardner to second, Ferrarese issued consecutive walks to Bob Boyd and Bob Nieman to force in a run.

Beall Meets Sentinel Nine At Frostburg

Flintstone To Host LaSalle; Bruce And Valley At Barton

Mt. Savage High School puts a nine-game winning streak on the line when it meets the Allegany Campers today at 4 p. m., in an Allegany County High School Baseball League game.

Coach Joe Carter's Indians, who occupy first place with a 9-1 record, and lead Fort Hill, their closest competitor by two games, defeated the Campers in their first game of the series on April 24 by the score of 6-2.

Mt. Savage started playing league ball in 1953 and can even up its all-time series with the Campers if they win today's contest. In the 13 games played to date, Allegany leads 7 to 6 in games won.

Stopped At Nine In 1958

Last season Mt. Savage had a winning streak of nine games going in the final contest with Valley and lost it 6-5. As a result, the championship race ended in a triple tie at 12-3 involving Fort Hill, Allegany and Mt. Savage.

Allegany is having a poor season, having won two and lost seven games.

Mt. Savage's only loss came in the opening game of the season with Fort Hill and the score was 3-2. The Indians then scalped Bruce, Flintstone, Allegany, Beall, LaSalle, Valley, Fort Hill, Bruce and Flintstone in the order named.

Coach Joe Carter's league leaders are heading the batting procession to date with an average of .329 for 93 hits in 283 official at bats. Twenty-eight of the hits have been for extra bases—17 doubles, four triples and seven home runs.

Sentinels Visit Beall

Fort Hill's second place Sentinels (7-3) are slated to play Beall at Frostburg at 4 p. m. today.

LaSalle's Explorers oppose the Aggies at Flintstone at 3:30 and the starting time of the Bruce vs. Valley game at Barton will be the same.

Fort Hill won the series opener from Beall, 16-2. LaSalle holds a 12-6 win over Flintstone and Valley won the opener from Bruce, 6-3.

LaSalle is in third place with six wins and three losses while the Bulldogs of Bruce occupy fourth place with a 5-4 record. Valley is 5-5, Beall 4-5, Allegany 2-7 and Flintstone 0-10.

Keyser And Vikings Play Important Regional Game

Keyser Is Scene Of Battle Today

Keyser High School, the only undefeated high school baseball team in the tri-state area this season, defends its 9-0 record against the Petersburg Vikings in a West Virginia regional game today at 4 p. m., at Keyser.

The victor plays the winner of the game between Berkeley Springs and Harpers Ferry for the regional crown and a right to play in an area game, the winner of which goes to Parkersburg, May 28-29, to battle it out for the state championship. Four area winners will engage in the tourney at Parkersburg.

Petersburg, coached by William "Honey" Crites, won its sectional title by defeating Moorefield, Saturday, by the score of 7-2. The Yellowjackets whipped the Vikings twice during the regular season, 9-2 and 12-3 and Saturday's result came as a big surprise.

Keyser holds two decisions over Petersburg, 13-8 and 13-3, and a victory for the Vikings today would be regarded as an upset.

Dave Koontz, Bill Reynolds or Roger Keplinger will be Petersburg's starting pitcher while Dave Wilson (5-0) or Ralph Wimer (4-0) will be on the firing line for coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Keyser team.

Petersburg wound up the season with a 4-4 record in the Potomac Valley Conference. Coach Crites' team owns an overall mark of nine wins and four losses.

The beer bottles emptied by American and Australian soldiers o' Manus island during World War II have been broken up to form the foundation of an all-denominational chapel on the island.

Cochran HOLD-TITE
NO PEEL!
NO BLISTER!
HOUSE PAINT

Cochran Hold-Tite is a long wearing No Peel, No Blister, breather type, medium gloss, mildew and fume resistant house paint. Equal to or better than the highest quality paints on the market.

LIKE LOUVERS—IT BREATHES

● What Happens After Painting

The places scraped or burned off and painted with Hold-Tite breathe and act as louvers or vents. The moisture present in the house comes out through these spots (louvers) in the form of vapor, drawn out by the sun. This is the same principle as if you had actually drilled holes and put louvers in your home. These spots (louvers) will help relieve the moisture pressure on the entire exterior surface of the house, even including where the old paint has not been removed. Hold-Tite acts like the human skin—lets water vapor out but does not let water in.

Beall Meets Sentinel Nine At Frostburg

Mt. Savage High School puts a nine-game winning streak on the line when it meets the Allegany Campers today at 4 p. m., in an Allegany County High School Baseball League game.

Coach Joe Carter's Indians, who occupy first place with a 9-1 record, and lead Fort Hill, their closest competitor by two games, defeated the Campers in their first game of the series on April 24 by the score of 6-2.

Mt. Savage started playing league ball in 1953 and can even up its all-time series with the Campers if they win today's contest. In the 13 games played to date, Allegany leads 7 to 6 in games won.

Stopped At Nine In 1958

Last season Mt. Savage had a winning streak of nine games going in the final contest with Valley and lost it 6-5. As a result, the championship race ended in a triple tie at 12-3 involving Fort Hill, Allegany and Mt. Savage.

Allegany is having a poor season, having won two and lost seven games.

Mt. Savage's only loss came in the opening game of the season with Fort Hill and the score was 3-2. The Indians then scalped Bruce, Flintstone, Allegany, Beall, LaSalle, Valley, Fort Hill, Bruce and Flintstone in the order named.

Coach Joe Carter's league leaders are heading the batting procession to date with an average of .329 for 93 hits in 283 official at bats. Twenty-eight of the hits have been for extra bases—17 doubles, four triples and seven home runs.

Sentinels Visit Beall

Fort Hill's second place Sentinels (7-3) are slated to play Beall at Frostburg at 4 p. m. today.

LaSalle's Explorers oppose the Aggies at Flintstone at 3:30 and the starting time of the Bruce vs. Valley game at Barton will be the same.

Fort Hill won the series opener from Beall, 16-2. LaSalle holds a 12-6 win over Flintstone and Valley won the opener from Bruce, 6-3.

LaSalle is in third place with six wins and three losses while the Bulldogs of Bruce occupy fourth place with a 5-4 record. Valley is 5-5, Beall 4-5, Allegany 2-7 and Flintstone 0-10.

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Troilus, an early favorite for the Kentucky Derby but a disappointment since winning the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah in February, died early Monday on the farm of his owner, Bayard Sharp, at nearby Middletown.

Sharp said the three-year-old colt, had not been right Saturday night. Veterinarians diagnosed the trouble as a twisted intestine.

In the derby, he was an early pacemaker, but finished last of 17 starters. The horse was insured, the amount undisclosed.

Keyser And Vikings Play Important Regional Game

Keyser Is Scene Of Battle Today

Keyser High School, the only undefeated high school baseball team in the tri-state area this season, defends its 9-0 record against the Petersburg Vikings in a West Virginia regional game today at 4 p. m., at Keyser.

The victor plays the winner of the game between Berkeley Springs and Harpers Ferry for the regional crown and a right to play in an area game, the winner of which goes to Parkersburg, May 28-29, to battle it out for the state championship. Four area winners will engage in the tourney at Parkersburg.

Petersburg, coached by William "Honey" Crites, won its sectional title by defeating Moorefield, Saturday, by the score of 7-2. The Yellowjackets whipped the Vikings twice during the regular season, 9-2 and 12-3 and Saturday's result came as a big surprise.

Keyser holds two decisions over Petersburg, 13-8 and 13-3, and a victory for the Vikings today would be regarded as an upset.

Dave Koontz, Bill Reynolds or Roger Keplinger will be Petersburg's starting pitcher while Dave Wilson (5-0) or Ralph Wimer (4-0) will be on the firing line for coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Keyser team.

Petersburg wound up the season with a 4-4 record in the Potomac Valley Conference. Coach Crites' team owns an overall mark of nine wins and four losses.

Cochran Hold-Tite is a long wearing No Peel, No Blister, breather type, medium gloss, mildew and fume resistant house paint. Equal to or better than the highest quality paints on the market.

LIKE LOUVERS—IT BREATHES
● What Happens After Painting
The places scraped or burned off and painted with Hold-Tite breathe and act as louvers or vents. The moisture present in the house comes out through these spots (louvers) in the form of vapor, drawn out by the sun. This is the same principle as if you had actually drilled holes and put louvers in your home. These spots (louvers) will help relieve the moisture pressure on the entire exterior surface of the house, even including where the old paint has not been removed. Hold-Tite acts like the human skin—lets water vapor out but does not let water in.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — In her spare moments Gina Lollobrigida is reading the script of "Lady L." Romain Gary's best seller, and frankly she's interested in making it for MGM. Julian Blaustein, the director, told me that nothing will be done about a contract until her husband, Dr. Milko Skofic returns from Italy.

"We are hoping very much to get her, and it looks very promising," said Blaustein.

Much of "Lady L" will be made right here in Hollywood and since both Gina and her husband like our town, this will suit them.

Before Blaustein left for Europe Friday, he told me he goes to London for exteriors for "The Wreck of the Mary Deare." "Gary Cooper and Charlton Heston are supposed to start June 3," he said "but since that's Derby Day in London, it looks like we'll be three Americans without any technicians—no one works on that day."

In his earlier days (not so very long ago,) young Tab Hunter skated with the stars of today's "Ice Capades" show, so he is having a picnic rehearsing with them for the spectacular "Summer On Ice." At one time, Tab says he had ideas of becoming a professional ice skater, and worked hard at perfecting himself.

Tab is a busy boy, and is our next star to go to Australia. He has been booked by Lee Gordon, the impresario who arranged Frank Sinatra's Australian visit, for three concerts in Sydney May 27, 28, and 29, and more in Melbourne May 31 and June 2. In "They Came to Cordura" Tab comes of age as an actor, and is very good—a talented young man.

Outside of the fact that Marlon Brando and George Englund are friends and Englund owns the screen rights to the best selling, "The Ugly America," it's hard for me to believe the talk that Marlon is set to star in this novel about the mistakes in American embassies throughout the East. As good as this book is, written by William Lederer and Eugene Burdnick, I wonder if it is exactly good propaganda for us in these perilous times? It paints most Americans abroad as thoughtless, tactless and unsympathetic to say the least although there are several characters the opposite of this.

It's much more believable to me that Karl Malden is being sought for a top part. He's much more the type than Marlon.

These children—how fast they insist on rushing into the grown-up world! Latest example is 17-year-old Jenny Maxwell, who has a very good part in "Blue Denim" at 20th, revealing that she has been married since April 17 to 24-year-old Paul Rapp, assistant TV director.

The bride, a former Powers model, is blue-eyed and blonde, and looks even younger than her tender 17. In fact, the news about the secret marriage in Yuma last month, came out in an amusing fashion.

A press agent noticed that Jenny wasn't attending the studio classes between scenes and asked her how she got off from school. "Because I'm an old married woman," laughed Jenny—and the secret was out.

Arrest 70 Teen-Agers

STOCKTON-ON-TEES, England (UPI) — Police have arrested more than 70 teen-agers in a drive to break up a new "chicken" game in which boys and girls sit on tracks before approaching trains, it was reported Monday. Police said two girls even sprawled between the tracks to let an express train roar over them to prove their "bravery."

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.

Declarer tried three times unsuccessfully to get a needed sluff today in his slam contract but persistence finally paid off on the fourth attempt.

The bidding was reasonable. North had the values for an immediate jump raise but decided in favor of a temporizing bid because of the texture of his trump support. After South's two diamond rebid however, North gave a jump preference in hearts. South tested for slam possibilities by cueing the ace of spades and when his partner cooperated by showing a diamond control, he leaped to slam.

West made the natural lead of the ten of spades. Dummy's queen was covered by East's king and won by declarer. He cashed the ace of clubs and crossed to dummy by taking a successful diamond finesse in order to take an immediate discard on the king of clubs. It was frustrating when East ruffed with the six of hearts, but South overruffed with the jack and tried again. He led a diamond to the ace and then the queen of clubs. East ruffed with the seven and South again overtrumped with the queen.

Declarer led a third round of diamonds and West had to discard for if he ruffed in with the ace of hearts, declarer would let go of dummy's remaining spade. The diamond was trumped in dummy and back came the jack of clubs which East greeted with his last trump and South once more overruffed with the king. Now only the ace of trumps was outstanding. It was a simple matter for declarer to lead another diamond and ruff in dummy, dropping the jack and establishing South's ten. A club ruff put declarer in to lead the good diamond and discard dummy's spade.

The defense was, therefore, held to one trick in the form of the ace of hearts.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — In her spare moments Gina Lollobrigida is reading the script of "Lady L," Romain Gary's best seller, and frankly she's interested in making it for MGM. Julian Blaustein, the director, told me that nothing will be done about a contract until her husband, Dr. Milko Skofic returns from Italy.

"We are hoping very much to get her, and it looks very promising," said Blaustein.

Much of "Lady L" will be made right here in Hollywood and since both Gina and her husband like our town, this will suit them.

Before Blaustein left for Europe Friday, he told me he goes to London for exteriors for "The Wreck of the Mary Deare." "Gary Cooper and Charlton Heston are supposed to start June 3," he said "but since that's Derby Day in London, it looks like we'll be three Americans without any technicians—no one works on that day."

In his earlier days (not so very long ago,) young Tab Hunter skated with the stars of today's "Ice Capades" show, so he is having a picnic rehearsing with them for the spectacular "Summer On Ice." At one time, Tab says he had ideas of becoming a professional ice skater, and worked hard at perfecting himself.

Tab is a busy boy, and is our next star to go to Australia. He has been booked by Lee Gordon, the impresario who arranged Frank Sinatra's Australian visit, for three concerts in Sydney May 27, 28, and 29, and more in Melbourne May 31 and June 2. In "They Came to Cordura" Tab comes of age as an actor, and is very good—a talented young man.

Outside of the fact that Marlon Brando and George Englund are friends and Englund owns the screen rights to the best selling, "The Ugly America," it's hard for me to believe the talk that Marlon is set to star in this novel about the mistakes in American embassies throughout the East. As good as this book is, written by William Lederer and Eugene Burdnick, I wonder if it is exactly good propaganda for us in these perilous times? It paints most Americans abroad as thoughtless, tactless and unsympathetic to say the least although there are several characters the opposite of this.

It's much more believable to me that Karl Malden is being sought for a top part. He's much more the type than Marlon.

These children—how fast they insist on rushing into the grown-up world! Latest example is 17-year-old Jenny Maxwell, who has a very good part in "Blue Denim" at 20th, revealing that she has been married since April 17 to 24-year-old Paul Rapp, assistant TV director.

The bride, a former Powers model, is blue-eyed and blonde, and looks even younger than her tender 17. In fact, the news about the secret marriage in Yuma last month, came out in an amusing fashion.

A press agent noticed that Jenny wasn't attending the studio classes between scenes and asked her how she got off from school. "Because I'm an old married woman," laughed Jenny—and the secret was out.

Arrest 70 Teen-Agers

STOCKTON-ON-TEES, England (UPI) — Police have arrested more than 70 teen-agers in a drive to break up a new "chicken" game in which boys and girls sit on tracks before approaching trains, it was reported Monday. Police said two girls even sprawled between the tracks to let an express train roar over them to prove their "bravery."

Opening lead: Ten of ♠.

Declarer tried three times unsuccessfully to get a needed stuff today in his slam contract but persistence finally paid off on the fourth attempt.

The bidding was reasonable. North had the values for an immediate jump raise but decided in favor of a temporizing bid because of the texture of his trump support. After South's two diamond rebid however, North gave a jump preference in hearts. South tested for slam possibilities by cueing the ace of spades and when his partner cooperated by showing a diamond control, he leaped to slam.

West made the natural lead of the ten of spades. Dummy's queen was covered by East's king and won by declarer. He cashed the ace of clubs and crossed to dummy by taking a successful diamond finesse in order to take an immediate discard on the king of clubs. It was frustrating when East ruffed with the six of hearts, but South overruffed with the jack and tried again. He led a diamond to the ace and then the queen of clubs. East ruffed with the seven and South again overtrumped with the queen.

Declarer led a third round of diamonds and West had to discard for if he ruffed in with the ace of hearts, declarer would let go of dummy's remaining spade. The diamond was trumped in dummy and back came the jack of clubs which East greeted with his last trump and South once more overruffed with the king. Now only the ace of trumps was outstanding. It was a simple matter for declarer to lead another diamond and ruff in dummy, dropping the jack and establishing South's ten. A club ruff put declarer in to lead the good diamond and discard dummy's spade.

The defense was, therefore, held to one trick in the form of the ace of hearts.

West Virginia Counties Vote School Funds

By United Press International

Voters in four more West Virginia Counties will vote Tuesday on 100 per cent excess levies aimed at netting more money for public school programs.

Excess levy proposals will be up for approval in Hancock, Monongalia, Pleasants and Jefferson Counties.

On Thursday, Logan County residents will vote on a 75 per cent levy and a proposed $2,600,000 bond issue for school construction. Voters in Grant County will vote Friday on a new 35 per cent levy and a $500,000 bond issue. Hardy County voters also are scheduled to ballot Friday on additional school financing proposals.

Randolph County joined Upshur County Saturday as the only two West Virginia counties among 21 balloting on increased taxation to support schools this year to turn down such proposals.

Jackson County, which has trounced such additional taxation questions before, reversed itself Saturday and passed a $2,676,000 bond issue to finance new school construction.

Besides the special levy, Pleasants County voters will decide on a $398,000 bond issue for school construction.

Two Injured In Collision

Two persons were hurt in a spectacular four-vehicle collision on U.S. 220 about two miles north of Bedford yesterday.

Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital with head and chest injuries was James Taylor, 21, of Altoona, Pa., driver of one of the vehicles. His condition was listed as "fair" last night at the hospital.

Paul L. Layman, 26, of New Castle, Pa., a passenger in another vehicle, was treated for contusions of the right arm. He was not admitted, hospital attendants said.

Pennsylvania State Police said the accident occurred about 3:40 p. m. when a truck driven by Ray Beegle, 56, of Imler, RD 1, Pa., and traveling north on the highway, struck the rear of Taylor's truck which had stopped.

The impact knocked Taylor's truck into the rear of a sedan operated by Jerry Wade Ruble, 24, of New Castle. Ruble's automobile was crushed between Taylor's truck and a tractor-trailer truck driven by Harold D. Diehl, 38, of Wellersburg, Pa.

Police said the three vehicles had stopped behind a school bus which was not hit.

Layman was a passenger in Ruble's automobile, police said.

Beegle was charged with reckless driving, they added.

School Board Will Welcome Mrs. Winer Today

The Allegany County Board of Education will conduct its first meeting in eight years with a Democratic majority starting at 3 p.m. today in the office of Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

During the eight years that Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, served as Governor three of the five members of the board have been registered Republicans. Kenneth R. Malcolm of Westernport, who has been president of the board ever since 1951, and Mrs. Albert C. Cook of Frostburg remain as the two Republicans on the board.

Mrs. Richard Winer, 1000 Camden Avenue, will be welcomed today as the new member of the board. A registered Democrat, she was appointed by Governor J. Millard Tawes to succeeed Mrs. L. Brooks Starcher. The other two board members, also registered Democrats, are Joseph M. Miller and J. Goodloe Jackson, both of this city.

Although the school board members have been appointed through the years with their political affiliation in mind, the board has remained free of partisan politics.

West Virginia Counties Vote School Funds

By United Press International

Voters in four more West Virginia Counties will vote Tuesday on 100 per cent excess levies aimed at netting more money for public school programs.

Excess levy proposals will be up for approval in Hancock, Monongalia, Pleasants and Jefferson Counties.

On Thursday, Logan County residents will vote on a 75 per cent levy and a proposed $2,600,000 bond issue for school construction. Voters in Grant County will vote Friday on a new 35 per cent levy and a $500,000 bond issue. Hardy County voters also are scheduled to ballot Friday on additional school financing proposals.

Randolph County joined Upshur County Saturday as the only two West Virginia counties among 21 balloting on increased taxation to support schools this year to turn down such proposals.

Jackson County, which has trounced such additional taxation questions before, reversed itself Saturday and passed a $2,676,000 bond issue to finance new school construction.

Besides the special levy, Pleasants County voters will decide on a $398,000 bond issue for school construction.

Two Injured In Collision

Two persons were hurt in a spectacular four-vehicle collision on U.S. 220 about two miles north of Bedford yesterday.

Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital with head and chest injuries was James Taylor, 21, of Altoona, Pa., driver of one of the vehicles. His condition was listed as "fair" last night at the hospital.

Paul L. Layman, 26, of New Castle, Pa., a passenger in another vehicle, was treated for contusions of the right arm. He was not admitted, hospital attendants said.

Pennsylvania State Police said the accident occurred about 3:40 p. m. when a truck driven by Ray Beegle, 56, of Imler, RD 1, Pa., and traveling north on the highway, struck the rear of Taylor's truck which had stopped.

The impact knocked Taylor's truck into the rear of a sedan operated by Jerry Wade Ruble, 24, of New Castle. Ruble's automobile was crushed between Taylor's truck and a tractor-trailer truck driven by Harold D. Diehl, 38, of Wellersburg, Pa.

Police said the three vehicles had stopped behind a school bus which was not hit.

Layman was a passenger in Ruble's automobile, police said.

Beegle was charged with reckless driving, they added.

School Board Will Welcome Mrs. Winer Today

The Allegany County Board of Education will conduct its first meeting in eight years with a Democratic majority starting at 3 p.m. today in the office of Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

During the eight years that Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, served as Governor three of the five members of the board have been registered Republicans. Kenneth R. Malcolm of Westernport, who has been president of the board ever since 1951, and Mrs. Albert C. Cook of Frostburg remain as the two Republicans on the board.

Mrs. Richard Winer, 1000 Camden Avenue, will be welcomed today as the new member of the board. A registered Democrat, she was appointed by Governor J. Millard Tawes to succeeed Mrs. L. Brooks Starcher. The other two board members, also registered Democrats, are Joseph M. Miller and J. Goodloe Jackson, both of this city.

Although the school board members have been appointed through the years with their political affiliation in mind, the board has remained free of partisan politics.

Youth Fined On Two Counts

A 17-year-old local boy was fined $200 yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on two motor vehicle violations as a result of a hit-and-run accident early yesterday on Cumberland Street.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt found the youth guilty of operating a vehicle without a license and leaving the scene of an accident and fined the youth $100 on each charge.

However, Magistrate Weatherholt suspended the fines on condition the youth return to school in the fall and continue on his part-time job to help pay for the damage caused in the accident.

City Police said the accident occurred when the youth attempted to make a left turn from Fayette Street onto Cumberland Street and apparently lost control.

Police said the car operated by the youth rammed into the rear of a parked car and then knocked down an iron railing before striking the warehouse of Hirsch Brothers on Cumberland Street.

Stock Market Irregular And Much Less Active

NEW YORK (UPI) — Strength in gold stocks and weakness in tobaccos provided most of the interest in an irregular and much less active stock market.

The probability of a boost in the federal reserve discount rate on the heels of Friday's rise in commercial bank lending rates bore the chief blame for hesitation in the market which had soared last Thursday to new all-time high levels.

Commentators said the lighter volume on both the Friday and Monday declines was an indication of internal strength. Turnover dipped to 2,970,000 shares from 3,510,000 on Friday and 3,660,000 on Thursday.

General business news was favorable, including higher than estimated first quarter gross national product at a record annual rate of $467 billion dollars; scheduled record steel output, increased rail freight carloadings, growing talk of the possibility of tax cuts in 1960.

Gold shares continued to meet demand, reflecting higher prices for the metal in London and persistent talk of an increase to come in the U.S. price, although the latter is labeled "nonsense" in most quarters. Among the gold shares, McIntyre Porcupine rose 4½, Dome Mines and Homestake over a point each.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Corn and oats were strong, and other grains were easier today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to off ⅝; corn up ⅛ to 1¼; oats up ½ to 1¼; new oats up ½ to ⅝; rye unchanged to off ¾; soybeans off ¼ to ½.

May wheat gained temporary strength in a generally dull market on a lack of pressure and fair amounts of commission house buying. The price fell to a steady level near the close of the session. New crop contracts were easier. Good rains were reported in the southwest. No export sales were uncovered.

Nearby corn contracts were strong. There was steady buying of July with selling on resting orders. May trade was mixed. The Argentine crop estimate was bullish despite reports of heavy rains and floods in recent weeks. Commodity Credit Corp. export acceptances on subsidy bids totaled 757,000 bushels. Receipts were small. The spot basis was firm.

May oats rose 1 cent on scattered buying and short covering with light offerings. Rye was quiet, with May advancing temporarily with May wheat and then falling off.

The soybean trade was quiet and steady. There was local and commercial selling of July and mixed buying. France was said to have bought 1,000 tons of beans for early June shipment.

Meals were easier, and oils slightly lower. The range:

Stock Market Irregular And Much Less Active

NEW YORK (UPI) — Strength in gold stocks and weakness in tobaccos provided most of the interest in an irregular and much less active stock market.

The probability of a boost in the federal reserve discount rate on the heels of Friday's rise in commercial bank lending rates bore the chief blame for hesitation in the market which had soared last Thursday to new all-time high levels.

Commentators said the lighter volume on both the Friday and Monday declines was an indication of internal strength. Turnover dipped to 2,970,000 shares from 3,510,000 on Friday and 3,660,000 on Thursday.

General business news was favorable, including higher than estimated first quarter gross national product at a record annual rate of $467 billion dollars; scheduled record steel output, increased rail freight carloadings, growing talk of the possibility of tax cuts in 1960.

Gold shares continued to meet demand, reflecting higher prices for the metal in London and persistent talk of an increase to come in the U.S. price, although the latter is labeled "nonsense" in most quarters. Among the gold shares, McIntyre Porcupine rose 4½, Dome Mines and Homestake over a point each.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Corn and oats were strong, and other grains were easier today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to off ⅜; corn up ⅛ to 1¼; oats up ½ to 1¼; new oats up ½ to ⅝; rye unchanged to off ⅝; soybeans off ¼ to ½.

May wheat gained temporary strength in a generally dull market on a lack of pressure and fair amounts of commission house buying. The price fell to a steady level near the close of the session. New crop contracts were easier. Good rains were reported in the southwest. No export sales were uncovered.

Nearby corn contracts were strong. There was steady buying of July with selling on resting orders. May trade was mixed. The Argentine crop estimate was bullish despite reports of heavy rains and floods in recent weeks. Commodity Credit Corp. export acceptances on subsidy bids totaled 757,000 bushels. Receipts were small. The spot basis was firm.

May oats rose 1 cent on scattered buying and short covering with light offerings. Rye was quiet, with May advancing temporarily with May wheat and then falling off.

The soybean trade was quiet and steady. There was local and commercial selling of July and mixed buying. France was said to have bought 1,000 tons of beans for early June shipment.

Meals were easier, and oils slightly lower. The range:

City Officials Make Plans For Talks Thursday

Rec, Engineering Posts May Be Aired

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that he was trying to set up a meeting for Thursday night for a general discussion on the problems facing the city.

Among the subjects which may be discussed, he said, are the recreation director's position and the application of Charles R. Scarlett for the post of assistant city engineer.

A motion to accept the proposal of C. Eugene Mason on conditions under which he would remain as recreation director was withdrawn at yesterday's Council meeting after Street Commissioner John J. Long said he wanted answers to several questions. (See story on Page 5).

Mr. Mason indicated he would remain in the position if it were placed under Civil Service, pay $5,000 a year and be under the jurisdiction of the Mayor and Council.

Cost Was $9,500

In his letter, Mr. Mason pointed out that his predecessor received $6,000 a year and had a male assistant making a total expense of $9,500.

He said he would also like to recommend that the Recreation Director's position be set up under the Mayor and Council, with the director being given full responsibility and power to operate the Recreation Department as a step toward insuring a more efficient operation.

The Recreation Department is under the supervision of the Department of Streets and Public Property.

The recreation director pointed out that further delay in a decision will seriously impair the operation of the department's summer program.

Mr. Scarlett, who has been a draftsman in the Engineering Department for several years, has asked for a meeting with city officials to learn why they feel he is not qualified for the post of assistant city engineer.

Post Is Advertised

The post has been advertised but there are no indications at present that it will be filled.

The position was advertised after a 3-1 vote May 10 with Mayor J. Edwin Keech absent and Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder dissenting and saying, in effect, that specifications called for essentially the same duties as Mr. Scarlett is performing.

Plans for the new position of assistant city engineer for streets, parks and planning, was set in motion by Mr. Long.

Last week, Mayor Keech notified Mr. Scarlett his application could not be considered since he could not meet the qualifications set up for the job by the Mayor and Council.

They hope to buy oxygen equipment with proceeds from the carnival. Plenty of rides and concessions are providing entertainment for young and old.

Two Questioned In Theft From Smith Shows

Two persons who were arrested last week by City Police in connection with the theft of $210 from the Clyde Smith Shows were questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's Office.

County Investigator Edwin R Lilya said he took statements yesterday from Guy Burnett, 19, of Virginia, who has been charged with breaking and entering and larceny, and a 15-year-old Ridgeley area youth who is being held as a delinquent minor.

Burnett, a former employe of the Smith Shows, will be given a preliminary hearing this morning in Trial Magistrate Court for the purpose of setting bond. Mr. Lilya said the 15-year-old boy would be returned to the State's Attorney's Office this morning.

The money was stolen May 13 from the office of the show which was located on the grounds of St. Mary's Church for the annual fun festival last week.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said a third party in the theft, Carl Wilmouth, also of Virginia, is being sought in connection with the theft and a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Det. Morrissey said the boy served as a lookout while Wilmouth broke into the trailer and took $170 in change and $40 in bills. Burnett drove the car which the three used in the theft.

Police said they located $20 in change in a bag which had been buried along a roadway at Short Gap.

Girl Scouts Review Area Development

Council Approves Fiscal Budget

Area development, or the expansion of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council, was the general theme at the spring meeting of the council last night in the Girl Scout House. About 150 adult scouts attended.

Miss Olive Hurlburt explained that under the National Girl Scout program, plans are being culminated so that every section of the country is covered by an area council so that the opportunities of Girl Scouting are open to all girls everywhere.

For the past 24 years, the Cumberland Council has operated within first, the city environs, then into parts of the county, and has now extended to include all of the county, parts of Mineral and parts of Hampshire County.

Area Outlined

The National Girl Scout Council has concluded that Mineral, Grant, Hampshire and Hardy counties in West Virginia, Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Bedford County in Pennsylvania, should all be included in one council operation.

It is the objective, Miss Hurlburt explained, to gradually expand the work of the organization into all or the major part of this area.

As details are worked out, the area development program will eventually be realized, she predicted. New Chief B. F. Gaffney Assumes His Duties Today

"I'm sorry to see the chief leave and I wish him good luck in his new venture."

With these words, Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney made preparations last night to assume duties as head of the Cumberland Police Department today following yesterday's retirement of Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

The Mayor and City Council approved Chief Flynn's request for retirement and then passed an order to name Assistant Chief Gaffney as acting chief yesterday.

Mr. Flynn, in a letter to the council, asked that he be pensioned effective June 1 and said he is accepting employment with the State Roads Commission.

Served Since 1935

His successor has been a member of the Cumberland Police Department since December 18, 1935, and was appointed as assistant chief the same day Mr. Flynn took over as chief on July 7, 1947.

Mr. Gaffney's appointment as acting chief is effective today and he will serve until an eligible list is provided by the city's Civil Service Commission.

The new chief, who will be 62 in June, said he is "very grateful to the Mayor and Council for giving me the opportunity to succeed Mr. Flynn. I am sorry to see the chief leave, and I wish him good luck in his new venture."

Chief Gaffney said he will meet this morning with Commissioner of Police and Fire Philmore F. Fleming to talk over the operation of the police department. He added he did not contemplate any changes, noting, however, that "I am in favor of anything that will be for the betterment of the department and will increase its efficiency."

Chief Gaffney is a native of Baltimore, where he attended public schools until he went to work to support his family. He is a veteran of World War I, serving from early in 1918 until 1919 in the U. S. Navy.

In September of 1919, shortly after his discharge from the service, Chief Gaffney joined the Road Men of Maryland, forerunners of the Maryland State Police. He came to Cumberland while a member of this group.

State Police Sergeant

When the group was officially organized as the state police in 1920 under the administration of Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Chief Gaffney, then a sergeant, was instructor in the police school at Saunder's Range.

Chief Gaffney resigned from the state police in 1921 and went to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, where he was superintendent of the motive power and general repairs garage. He went to Phoenix, Arizona, with the motor test fleet but left the company in 1933, returning to Cumberland.

The chief joined the Cumberland Police Department as a patrolman in 1935. In 1937 under Chief Harry Irvine, he took a 12 weeks course at the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Police Academy, specializing in fingerprinting and general police work. He returned to the city, was promoted to sergeant and opened the detective bureau here.

Later he was appointed Detective Lieutenant, a position he held until he succeeded the late John J. Trieber as assistant chief under the administration of Commissioner of Police and Fire William V. Keegan in 1947.

Married to the former Bertie M. Whitman of Cumberland, Chief Gaffney now lives with his wife in their home at 870 Sperry Terrace. The couple celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary on March 10.

They have one son, James Gaffney, manager of the B. F. Goodrich store in Cumberland.

R. E. Flynn Retires As Police Chief

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn yesterday asked to be pensioned at one-half of his salary effective June 1 and the Mayor and City Council approved his request.

In a letter to the council, Chief Flynn said he is leaving the police force after 22 years because he had no security for his family and added he is accepting other employment.

Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney was appointed as acting chief, effective today, to replace the retiring Flynn. Chief Flynn will remain on the city's payroll until the end of this month as he has some vacation time due him.

Chief Flynn said in a statement:

"Any success I might have had stems from the fine cooperation from such agencies as the states attorney's office, the Maryland State Police and the FBI.

"I would be remiss if I did not mention the fine cooperation of the good judges with which Cumberland is blessed. As you know, no chief could exist without the faithful service of his men and I want to particularly thank those who helped me over the years.

"There has been many, many times over the years in my investigative work that I have come in contact with reporters from the Times-News. I want to say here that this association could not be excelled.

"The newspapers in Cumberland are gifted with talent in the reporting field. Their personality and demeanor makes for good relations with any police force.

"I wish to thank all the city employes who have been so loyal to me and my association with them will always be cherished."

Chief Flynn was graduated from LaSalle Institute, the FBI National Academy, the Institute of Applied Science and attended three refresher courses in law enforcement at the University of Maryland.

The chief started as a patrolman 22 years ago, and has worked five years as a detective, four years as a detective lieutenant and 12 years as Chief of Police.

He is a member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and an associate member of the National Sheriffs Association.

Flood Control Transfer Letter Filed By City

Final Payment Made On Street Project

The Mayor and Council yesterday filed the formal letter of transfer of Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection facilities.

Turned over to the city were all parts of the flood control project in Cumberland and Ridgeley except for Western Maryland Railway bridges included in the project and the channels of Wills Creek and the Potomac River.

The transfer, effective on the May 9 dedication date, was signed by Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The Corps is winding up its work on the project and will probably close its office in the Post Office in about a month.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer, and John Kington, office engineer, will be here for several weeks clearing up the final paper work on the $18,100,000 construction job.

City Officials Make Plans For Talks Thursday

Rec, Engineering Posts May Be Aired

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that he was trying to set up a meeting for Thursday night for a general discussion on the problems facing the city.

Among the subjects which may be discussed, he said, are the recreation director's position and the application of Charles R. Scarlett for the post of assistant city engineer.

A motion to accept the proposal of C. Eugene Mason on conditions under which he would remain as recreation director was withdrawn at yesterday's Council meeting after Street Commissioner John J. Long said he wanted answers to several questions. (See story on Page 5).

Mr. Mason indicated he would remain in the position if it were placed under Civil Service, pay $5,000 a year and be under the jurisdiction of the Mayor and Council.

Cost Was $9,500

In his letter, Mr. Mason pointed out that his predecessor received $6,000 a year and had a male assistant making a total expense of $9,500.

He said he would also like to recommend that the Recreation Director's position be set up under the Mayor and Council, with the director being given full responsibility and power to operate the Recreation Department as a step toward insuring a more efficient operation.

The Recreation Department is under the supervision of the Department of Streets and Public Property.

The recreation director pointed out that further delay in a decision will seriously impair the operation of the department's summer program.

Mr. Scarlett, who has been a draftsman in the Engineering Department for several years, has asked for a meeting with city officials to learn why they feel he is not qualified for the post of assistant city engineer.

Post Is Advertised

The post has been advertised but there are no indications at present that it will be filled.

The position was advertised after a 3-1 vote May 10 with Mayor J. Edwin Keech absent and Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder dissenting and saying, in effect, that specifications called for essentially the same duties as Mr. Scarlett is performing.

Plans for the new position of assistant city engineer for streets, parks and planning, was set in motion by Mr. Long.

Last week, Mayor Keech notified Mr. Scarlett his application could not be considered since he could not meet the qualifications set up for the job by the Mayor and Council.

Two Questioned In Theft From Smith Shows

Two persons who were arrested last week by City Police in connection with the theft of $210 from the Clyde Smith Shows were questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's Office.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said he took statements yesterday from Guy Burnett, 19, of Virginia, who has been charged with breaking and entering and larceny, and a 15-year-old Ridgeley area youth who is being held as a delinquent minor.

Burnett, a former employe of the Smith Shows, will be given a preliminary hearing this morning in Trial Magistrate Court for the purpose of setting bond. Mr. Lilya said the 15-year-old boy would be returned to the State's Attorney's Office this morning.

The money was stolen May 13 from the office of the show which was located on the grounds of St. Mary's Church for the annual fun festival last week.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said a third party in the theft, Carl Wilmouth, also of Virginia, is being sought in connection with the theft and a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Det. Morrissey said the boy served as a lookout while Wilmouth broke into the trailer and took $170 in change and $40 in bills. Burnett drove the car which the three used in the theft.

Police said they located $20 in change in a bag which had been buried along a roadway at Short Gap.

Served Since 1935

His successor has been a member of the Cumberland Police Department since December 18, 1935, and was appointed as assistant chief the same day Mr. Flynn took over as chief on July 7, 1947.

Mr. Gaffney's appointment as acting chief is effective today and he will serve until an eligible list is provided by the city's Civil Service Commission.

The new chief, who will be 62 in June, said he is "very grateful to the Mayor and Council for giving me the opportunity to succeed Mr. Flynn. I am sorry to see the chief leave, and I wish him good luck in his new venture."

Chief Gaffney said he will meet this morning with Commissioner of Police and Fire Philmore F. Fleming to talk over the operation of the police department. He added he did not contemplate any changes, noting, however, that "I am in favor of anything that will be for the betterment of the department and will increase its efficiency."

Chief Gaffney is a native of Baltimore, where he attended public schools until he went to work to support his family. He is a veteran of World War I, serving from early in 1918 until 1919 in the U. S. Navy.

In September of 1919, shortly after his discharge from the service, Chief Gaffney joined the Road Men of Maryland, forerunners of the Maryland State Police. He came to Cumberland while a member of this group.

State Police Sergeant

When the group was officially organized as the state police in 1920 under the administration of Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Chief Gaffney, then a sergeant, was instructor in the police school at Saunder's Range.

Chief Gaffney resigned from the state police in 1921 and went to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, where he was superintendent of the motive power and general repairs garage. He went to Phoenix, Arizona, with the motor test fleet but left the company in 1933, returning to Cumberland.

The chief joined the Cumberland Police Department as a patrolman in 1935. In 1937 under Chief Harry Irvine, he took a 12 weeks course at the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Police Academy, specializing in fingerprinting and general police work. He returned to the city, was promoted to sergeant and opened the detective bureau here.

Later he was appointed Detective Lieutenant, a position he held until he succeeded the late John J. Trieber as assistant chief under the administration of Commissioner of Police and Fire William V. Keegan in 1947.

Married to the former Bertie M. Whitman of Cumberland, Chief Gaffney now lives with his wife in their home at 870 Sperry Terrace. The couple celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary on March 10.

They have one son, James Gaffney, manager of the B. F. Goodrich store in Cumberland.

R. E. Flynn Retires As Police Chief

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn yesterday asked to be pensioned at one-half of his salary effective June 1 and the Mayor and City Council approved his request.

In a letter to the council, Chief Flynn said he is leaving the police force after 22 years because he had no security for his family and added he is accepting other employment.

Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney was appointed as acting chief, effective today, to replace the retiring Flynn. Chief Flynn will remain on the city's payroll until the end of this month as he has some vacation time due him.

Chief Flynn said in a statement:

"Any success I might have had stems from the fine cooperation from such agencies as the states attorney's office, the Maryland State Police and the FBI.

"I would be remiss if I did not mention the fine cooperation of the good judges with which Cumberland is blessed. As you know, no chief could exist without the faithful service of his men and I want to particularly thank those who helped me over the years.

"There has been many, many times over the years in my investigative work that I have come in contact with reporters from the Times-News. I want to say here that this association could not be excelled.

"I wish to thank all the city employes who have been so loyal to me and my association with them will always be cherished."

Chief Flynn was graduated from LaSalle Institute, the FBI National Academy, the Institute of Applied Science and attended three refresher courses in law enforcement at the University of Maryland.

The chief started as a patrolman 22 years ago, and has worked five years as a detective, four years as a detective lieutenant and 12 years as Chief of Police.

He is a member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and an associate member of the National Sheriffs Association.

Flood Control Transfer Letter Filed By City

Final Payment Made On Street Project

The Mayor and Council yesterday filed the formal letter of transfer of Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection facilities.

Turned over to the city were all parts of the flood control project in Cumberland and Ridgeley except for Western Maryland Railway bridges included in the project and the channels of Wills Creek and the Potomac River.

The transfer, effective on the May 9 dedication date, was signed by Col. George B. Sumner, Washington District engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The Corps is winding up its work on the project and will probably close its office in the Post Office in about a month.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer, and John Kington, office engineer, will be here for several weeks clearing up the final paper work on the $18,100,000 construction job.

A few minor jobs remained when the project was turned over to the city, Mr. Dexter said, but they have all been completed.

In other routine action, the Mayor and Council authorized the issuance of a $2,404.51 check to Orrie Sensabaugh, local contractor, for final work on the Van Buren Avenue project.

Thomas S. Post, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant, reported the unit treated an average 6,306,867 gallons of sewage daily during April.

Parking meter receipts for the week ending May 10 totaled $792.86, a decrease of 49 cents over the previous week.

Mineral Co. Man Is Denied Freedom

William Kuhn, sentenced to serve 30 years in prison from Mineral County Circuit Court, has been denied an appeal for freedom by the West Virginia Supreme Court.

Kuhn told the high court that the Mineral County Court erred in stipulating that sentences for four felonies run consecutively instead of concurrently.

He had entered a plea of guilty October 20, 1956, to four charges of forgery and worthless checks and was placed on probation for three years. He violated his probation and was sent to prison in 1957.
